Awards of Contracts for Constructing the Engines and Machinery for the New War Vessels—Judge Bowlin's Instructions—The Cincinnati Postmaster, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Oct. 1.

Secretary TOUCEY awards contracts for constructing the engines and machinery for the vessels of war, as follows:

Fulton Iron Works, for the vessel at the Brooklyn Navy-Yard.

Morgan Iron Works, for the vessel at Pensacola.

WOODRUFF & BEACH, for the vessel at Portsmouth, N. H.

Boston Locomotive Works, for the vessel at Charlestown.

MERRICK & SONS, for the vessel at Philadelphia.

The others are not yet decided upon.

Letters brought home in our war vessels are subject only to "inland" postage. So says the Post-Office Department.

Mr. APPLETON has been confined to his residence for several days with inflamed eyes.

Instructions for Judge BOWLIN were under consideration in the State Department to-day, but were postponed until morning in consequence of Secretary CASS having to attend a Cabinet meeting.

FORNEY'S manifesto attracts very little attention here.

It is determined by the Administration to remove FARAN, the lately-appointed Postmaster at Cincinnati, for his defence of DOUGLAS. Q.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Friday, Oct. 1.

In addition to the measures taken some months ago to introduce the tea plant into the United States from China, inquiries have been made, by the Patent Office, through Mr. MEADE, our Minister to Brazil, for obtaining tea seed from that country, where it has been successfully cultivated for thirty years.

Measures are about being taken, through the Naval Expedition to Paraguay, to introduce into the United States the maté or Paraguay tea; also, a valuable medicinal plant, called nard, believed to be a sure specific against the bites of venomous insects or reptiles; and a peculiar kind of honey bee, which builds on branches of trees, instead of in hives or trunks of trees, as with the common bee.

A rumor prevails that the troops are to be removed from Fort McHenry in consequence of an alleged infectious disease in that neighborhood. There is reason, however, to believe that the report is premature. The regulations of the army authorize the removal of troops from sickly to healthy locations, and this would, doubtless, be done by the commanding officer of the Post were there sufficient grounds for the exercise of this discretionary power.

It has been decided at the Post-Office Department that letters received from United States vessels cannot be considered ship letters, under the provisions of the act of March 3, 1825, which apply only to letters or packets carried "in any private ship or vessel." Such letters, therefore, are chargeable only with drop-letter postage, if intended for the delivery of the offices in which they are deposited; and with the ordinary rates if forwarded to other offices, and in neither case is any compensation to be allowed to the person from whom they are received.

Meeting of the American State Committee.

ALBANY, Friday, Oct. 1.

The American State Committee met to-day at the Delavan House. There was a full attendance. The Hon. DANIEL ULLMANN and other outsiders, and all the State candidates, except the Canal Commissioner, were present.

The Hon. ERASTUS BROOKS, of New-York, was elected Chairman, and JOHN C. FELTMAN, of Albany, Secretary, when a Committee was appointed to organize and conduct the canvass.

A letter addressed by Ex-Governor HUNT to the ratification meeting fixed for this evening, but postponed until next week, was read. The letter strongly indorses the American candidates, and declares the Americans had no alternative after the action of the Republicans but to nominate a separate ticket.

The acceptance of all the candidates on the American ticket was then received. Those present stated that while none of them were anxious for office, they all felt bound to place themselves in the hands of their friends and stand the result of the contest.

The Committee was in session only a few hours, and adjourned, subject to the call of the officers of the Convention.

During the meeting of the Committee, a large number of prominent Republican politicians were present at the Delavan House, but no talk of union took place inside the meeting.

The American ratification meeting, which was fixed for to-night, is postponed to Thursday, next week, in consequence of the storm.

The Democrats who organized a separate Central Committee on the plea of frauds in the primary elections and in opposition to Mr. CAGGER, have joined two delegates from each town with the city representation on the Committee, and agreed to call a County Convention on the 9th inst.

Fire in Boston, &c.

BOSTON, Friday, Oct. 1.

Early this morning a fire broke out in the large brick building Nos. 41, 43 and 45 Kingston-street, which was mostly destroyed. Loss about $2,000. Among the sufferers are GEO. H. FOX & Co., hardware manufacturers; ROGERS & WENDT, silver ware manufacturers; JACOB THAXTER, brass finisher. Several firemen were injured, but not fatally. Loss partially insured.

JOSEPH A. BALLARD, one of the oldest and best ship-news collectors, and for many years connected with the Daily Advertiser, died this morning. He had been sick for several months.

The Horse Fair at Elmira.

ELMIRA, Friday, Oct. 1.

The rain prevented any races taking place yesterday, but they were continued to-day, and much interest was manifested in them. This afternoon the Fair was adjourned until the 13th inst., when Miller's Damsel, Belle of Saratoga and Taconey will contest for a prize of $300; and on the 14th, the stallions St. Lawrence and Mohawk will exhibit their speed for a prize of $100. Great satisfaction is expressed with the way everything is managed.

Tornado at Ithaca.

ITHACA, Friday, Oct. 1.

At about 4 P. M. yesterday this village was visited by the most severe tornado ever witnessed in this vicinity. L. B. LENT'S mammoth circus tent was blown to the ground, but happily no one was seriously injured. The lightning struck in three places, destroying a large amount of property. The barns and outhouses of ALLEN HAZEN, a mile and a half south of the village, and the barns of JOHN VAN BUSKIRK, two or three miles west, were burned. There was also a large fire to the north, but we have yet been unable to learn the particulars. Rain is still falling here.

American Missionary Association—Second Day.

WORCESTER, Mass., Friday, Oct. 1.

The forenoon session of yesterday was mainly occupied in the passage of strong Anti-Slavery resolutions, and animated discussions thereon. In the afternoon there was a discussion on the institution of the Lord's Supper. In the evening, after addresses by the Rev. Messrs. FEE, WORTH, and others, the Association adjourned sine die. The old Board of Officers were elected for the ensuing year.

New-York Congressional Nomination.

CORNING, Thursday, Sept. 30.

WM. IRVINE, Esq., of Corning, was nominated to-day by the Republicans for member of Congress from the Steuben and Livingston District.

Massachusetts Congressional Nomination.

BOSTON, Friday, Oct. 1.

The Republicans of the Seventh District yesterday nominated the Hon. D. W. GOOCH for reëlection to Congress.

The Republican Convention of the First District today nominated THOMAS D. ELLIOTT for election to Congress.

Mortality of Savannah.

SAVANNAH, Thursday, Sept. 30.

The number of interments in this city yesterday was seven. None of the deaths were from yellow fever.

Southern Ocean Steamer Movements.

CHARLESTON, Thursday, Sept. 30.

The United States Mail steamship Nashville, Captain L. M. MURRAY, from New-York, arrived here at four o'clock, this (Thursday) afternoon.

Pennsylvania State Fair.

PITTSBURG, Friday, Oct. 1.

The State Fair is now being held here. About 30,000 people attended it to-day. WM. A. STOKES Esq., of Westmoreland, delivered the annual address, which was a production of great power and eloquence.

Later from Rio Janeiro.

NORFOLK, Friday, Oct. 1.

The bark Parthian, forty-three days from Rio, arrived in Hampton Roads to-day. She left there the frigate St. Lawrence and the sloop Falmouth with all on board well. The health of the city was good. Freights were dull.

Yellow Fever at New-Orleans.

NEW-ORLEANS, Thursday, Sept. 30.

The deaths from yellow fever yesterday were 53.

NEW-ORLEANS, Friday, Oct. 1.

The deaths from yellow fever in this city yesterday were only 46.

THE QUARANTINE ARSON INVESTIGATION.

Testimony of Dr. Harris, Ex-Physician of the Marine Hospital—Origin and History of the Quarantine Establishment—"Is Yellow Fever Catching?"

The examination of Messrs. RAY TOMPKINS and J. C. THOMPSON, for arson, in connection with the conflagration of the Quarantine establishment, was resumed yesterday at the Lyceum, Stapleton, Staten Island, before Judge METCALF. The room, during a great portion of the proceedings, was well filled with spectators.

Dr. Elisha Harris was the only witness examined. He deposed as follows: I am a practising physician in the City of New-York; I have been in practice since 1849 in that City; I held the position of physician of the Marine Hospital at Quarantine in 1855 and 1856; I am able to speak as to matters in connection with that Hospital; they have engaged my attention for some time; the Marine Hospital was established in 1799, as a branch of a quarantine establishment which had been existing for some years; previous to that date for several years the lazzarettos of Quarantine had been located on Bedlow's and Governor's Islands; they were almost exclusively devoted to small-pox; the prevalence of yellow fever in New-York during 1795 and 1798 created great anxiety with regard to the prevalence of that fever in an epidemic form in that City; the yellow fever had prevailed terrifically in Philadelphia in 1793 and 1798; the disease was believed at that period by most of the physicians and Health Officers to be strictly of domestic or endemial origin, while not a few physicians, who had carefully observed the disease, believed it to be also a strictly contagious malady; these opinions, warranting not only the conclusion that yellow fever might originate in the Summer time anywhere from vessels arriving in the port, but that it was liable to spread by personal contagion; great interest was taken in the choice of a proper location of the Hospitals, and for the temporary detention of vessels that were supposed to jeopardize the health of the City; during the early period of the epidemic in 1798, Dr. Treat, Health Officer of the Board, died of yellow fever, contracted, as he believed, as was generally supposed, to his personal exposures to the sick and dead of that disease; Dr. Richard Bailey, who succeeded him as Health Officer, entertained the very rational opinion respecting Dr. Treat's case, as well as respecting the origin of yellow fever generally in the City, that it was of endemial origin, both on shipboard, and in the lower parts of the City; I mention these facts to indicate some of the important considerations which weighed on those who had direction of the laws establishing the present Quarantine system; the present location of the Quarantine establishment was selected mainly through the influence of Dr. Richard Bailey, and in the Winter of 1799, the statutes regulating the position and affairs of the new Quarantine, were passed by the Legislature; the special advantages of the location at that time as claimed by those interested in the selection of the locality, were first that, in accordance with the views then entertained by the best-informed physicians, the location was presumed to be at a sufficient distance from the City to insure the population in the City and vicinity from yellow fever, whatever its origin; Dr. R. Bailey, being an intimate friend of the Rev. Dr. Moore, of St. Andrews' Parish, on the Island, frequently exchanged views with him upon the question of the nature, the origin, and the facts relating to the diffusion of the disease, and they coincided in the view, as did all men in their day, that there was no danger of the diffusion of the yellow fever from the location which was about being selected, and which was selected for the Quarantine establishment on Staten Island; another consideration of great importance with these gentlemen and the physicians who were consulted on the subject, was the well-known salubrity of the locality, and the very excellent anchorage immediately in front of the ground selected; I am not aware what opposition may have been made to the selection by the inhabitants of the island, as that is not a matter of medical record, but there was much delay in securing a title to the land, supposed to originate from some opposition; the current medical doctrines of the day hardly admitted of a question respecting the population of the island; the doctrine of the personal contagion of the fever, that the disease was of local origin, on shipboard or in cities, became the opinion of the mass of the people, probably on Staten Island as well as New-York; and as the Health Officer of that day stated, it would be preposterous for yellow fever to prevail on the island; these doctrines continued to prevail during Dr. Richard Bailey's life, a man who very worthily led public opinion; a strong belief in the doctrine of personal contagion of yellow fever prevailed, both in and out of the medical profession, up to 1822; and indeed such was the fixed opinion of Dr. Joseph Bailey, Health Officer, when the last great epidemic visited the City; and it should here be remarked that from the year 1805 to 1821 only seventy cases of yellow fever, during a period of sixteen years, were admitted to the Marine Hospital, and these were admitted in eleven different years, the fact proving that there was but little exposure from imported infection at least, and in no small degree accounting for the general satisfaction with which Quarantine was then regarded; as before remarked, the doctrine of the personal contagion of yellow fever was in the ascendant, and we find, in 1821 and in 1822, the Health Officer, Dr. J. Bailey, firmly expressing his opinion that no case of yellow fever that he had ever witnessed, while connected with the Quarantine establishment, had been caused by infection at a greater distance than two hundred and fifty feet from the person attacked; and only one case is on record in connection with the history of Quarantine up to 1824, in which there is any positive evidence of the communication of the infection to a greater distance than two hundred and fifty feet directly through the atmosphere; this goes far to furnish any apology that may be necessary for those gentlemen who located Quarantine in its present spot; in 1821 there was a single fatal case upon Staten Island, and in which yellow fever attacked the brother of a lighterman, Mr. Daniel VanDeuser, whose residence was more than half a mile distant from the Quarantine establishment; and in this case it was known that he had not been to Quarantine, or was exposed to the infected shipping; this case Dr. Bailey unhesitatingly attributed to the personal communication of the disease from the elder brother, who was known to have contracted the disease on shipboard; in 1821 the first alarming epidemic of yellow fever occurred on Staten Island, and under such circumstances as to leave no doubt that the fever originated directly and solely from a large number of infected vessels then lying at anchor at Quarantine, and which were driven on shore in a gale, on the 3d of September; twenty-nine cases of yellow fever occurred immediately after that storm, but, as before mentioned, Dr. Bailey was able to trace, as he believed, the origin of each case to an exposure to the vessels, stranded on the beach, or lying near the shore, with a radius of infection less than 250 feet; yet he records the singular fact that in several of these instances the fever originated, as he believed, from direct personal contagion; these facts he recorded in the Medical and Physical Journal, of 1821, concerning the cases relating to the St. Clair family; there were 14 deaths from that one epidemic; that was the first great event in the history of Quarantine, showing the perils that the officers and residents in the neighborhood might be exposed to; in 1822, the City of New-York was visited by an epidemic of yellow fever, but there was no epidemic on Staten Island, although there were a few cases; the Health Officer entertained no doubt that the infection of the fever was conveyed from the vessels, by means of the goods lightered from them to the foot of Rector-street, and that conclusion was most unquestionably correct, some 3,000 packages of sugar and molasses having in a brief period been landed on the wharves at the foot of that street; a few cases of yellow fever in connection with the Quarantine establishment, occurred in 1843; and at various times during the interval between 1821 and 1848, cases of black vomit occurred along the shore of the Island, opposite the anchorage; the events of 1848 have been fully detailed by Dr. Anderson, who then resided on the Island, and witnessed what he has related, one of the first cases occurring in his own house, near the Seamen's Retreat; I examined the black vomit in those cases myself; Quarantines were instituted to stay the alarming progress of the Oriental Plague, and subsequently to prevent the spread of small pox; but as the history of Quarantine, in connection with efforts to limit the spread of yellow fever, have been made in districts and places where that disease has been at the time epidemic, and in most of the instances indigenous or naturalized, all the recorded experience of medical men on the subject has necessarily been conflicting, and comparatively unsatisfactory; the history of Quarantine regulations against yellow fever, in those places where that fever is not indigenous or epidemic, must be looked to for definite and decisive results; yet, even in tropical climates, as on several of the West India Islands, the experience of the last hundred years has shown that epidemics of the malady have followed very frequently upon the arrival of infected vessels at certain points upon those islands which are not believed to be continually infected with the disease; it is well known that yellow fever does not spread from its most prolific centres of diffusion, namely, infected vessels, in cold climates, or in climates much lower than that of the average temperature of New-York in Summer, as, for example, in any of the ports of Great Britain and Ireland; hence the experience of those ports is of no consequence to us; the port of New-York, and all other Atlantic ports, from Portland to Savannah, need to ascertain their own necessities and the requisite means for their individual protection; from the very nature of the case, a Quarantine establishment, for yellow fever, which is now recognized as a very infectious malady, with its anchorage, hospitals, &c., unless it be perfectly isolated, or removed from the vicinity of populous neighborhoods, cannot insure protection against the infection; vessels which have arrived in the Summer time from ports infected with yellow fever are, par excellence, the sources of danger; the air contained in the compartments of the infected vessel, and in the packages of goods, the inner walls and solid structures of the vessel itself, must also be considered as supplying the media by which the infection of yellow fever may be and has been conveyed to the City and vicinity of New-York; I say the solid structures, as well as the contained air, because it has been demonstrated at this Quarantine entrance, that even scuttling an infected vessel does not disinfect her, and there are reasons to believe a free application of water to the fomites of yellow fever will not necessarily remove the infection; the air contained in any vessel infected with yellow fever, may, under favoring circumstances, be wafted to a considerable distance, and become operative; in the case of Van Deuser, in 1821, that distance was more than a half mile, unless Dr. Bailey's hypothesis of personal contagion accounted for the case; and in 1848, the distance from infected vessels to the shore, whither the virus of the fever was wafted, varied from one-third to three-quarters of a mile, and in 1856 the radius of infection was so great that it swept both the Long Island and the Staten Island shores, from the Quarantine entrance; the shortest distance from an infected vessel to the Long Island shore being, as in the case of the Gliddon, about five hundred yards, and the greatest distance, though undetermined, we have reason to believe was much more than one mile; the sources of the infection on and in the vicinity of the Quarantine grounds were unquestionably—First, several infected vessels discharging cargo within one mile of these grounds; Second, bales of rags, landed on the Government docks at Quarantine, from the ship Gliddon; Third, infected packages, clothing and baggage from various vessels; the origin and general history of yellow fever on Bay Ridge, on the Long Island shore, were such as to demonstrate, beyond the possibility of a doubt, the fact that infected air from the infected vessels, discharging cargo at the Quarantine anchorage, opposite those shores, conveyed its pestilence thither to those homes of affluence and comfort which were among the first visited; if any of the cases of yellow fever on the Long Island shore in 1856 originated from clandestine intercourse in those cases with the vessels, the history of such intercourse has eluded the most scrutinizing investigation; abstractly considered, it might not seem impossible to isolate the hospital and various offices at Quarantine from the infected air of vessels, provided the vessels were removed a sufficient distance, but practically there must be much difficulty, if there does not exist an impossibility of such successful separation of the hospitals and boat-landings of the Establishment from the Quarantine anchorage, with which constant intercommunication would necessarily be maintained. There are practical difficulties in the way of insuring the hospital grounds from contamination with the virus of yellow fever, and unless those grounds can be insured against such contamination, it is manifestly expedient that as little intercommunication as possible be allowed with the surrounding neighborhood. To accomplish a successful isolation of the Quarantine buildings, so as not to endanger the surrounding village and country, would be very difficult, if not impracticable; but principally is such an establishment objectionable in a populous community like this, from the fact that the yellow fever, when once it infects a locality, however limited in extent, is liable to be reproduced and spread indefinitely, as was signally witnessed in the epidemic of 1822 in the City of New-York.

Small-pox should be isolated under all circumstances; but as the radius of its infection is very short, it need never be a source of any danger to the community when once the isolation is faithfully effected. The small-pox Hospital need not be a source of danger, but its location, with reference to the places from whence the cases of the disease are received, is a matter of vast importance, and it may be stated that the direct public ferry communications with the Quarantine establishment have been repeatedly used by patients sick with small-pox, yellow fever, and other infectious diseases. Cases of small-pox occasionally made their way, voluntarily, on the ferry boats, on the last boat from New-York to the Marine Hospital, and were admitted as patients; these cases were in a full state of eruption; the same with black vomit—cases came in voluntarily in the same way; one case occurs to me, which shows the probability of small-pox having been communicated to a resident of Staten Island by contact with a small-pox patient on a ferry boat; it was that of a clerk of one of the New-York Banks, who returned to Staten Island every evening and who was attacked with small-pox, and who having continued in his service at the bank, until his illness became too serious for him to remain, another clerk, whose residence was in the City, became affected with the disease, and subsequently came under my care at the Marine Hospital. Typhus fever is liable to spread from vessels and from apartments in which it is prevailing, but in that disease and cholera, the extension of the malady seems to depend more upon personal intercourse with the sick persons than upon a generally infected condition of the atmosphere. Hence Quarantine regulations for those diseases should particularly regard personal intercourse. It would not be safe to allow unrestricted intercourse with the grounds, much less free intercourse with the Hospitals. During my period of service at the Marine Hospital, the Asiatic cholera was not known to extend beyond the Quarantine walls but frequently the reception of cholera patients was followed by an outbreak of cholera in the Hospital Wards. Perfect combustion will unquestionably destroy any infection, but as to the possibility of the escape of the virus of yellow fever, from substances in process of combustion on the iron scow, it would depend upon the degree of heat to which all the vapors and gases arising from the materials in question are subjected. The temperature of flame is about 1141° Fahrenheit, but the temperature of vapors and gases arising, materials not all fully ignited, may vary from an ordinary temperature of the atmosphere through all the ranges up to the temperature of flame. This is all I am competent to state, having made no personal observation of the scow and its apparatus.

Cross-examined by Mr. Peckham—I have heard and known of cases of yellow fever communicated from the Hospital grounds, in consequence of the presence of those persons on the grounds antecedent to the attack; I have no personal knowledge of other diseases, cholera, small pox or ship-fever, having been so communicated; the cases of yellow fever I allude to occurred in 1856; so far as my personal experience and observation extends, so far as my knowledge of the disease extends, yellow fever is not contagious in this latitude; I wish to say, in justice to the opinions and observations of many most eminent medical men, that it is believed, under certain conditions and in certain latitudes, the disease is personally contagious, but it is a matter very difficult to decide; there is scarcely any difference of opinion respecting its non-contagiousness in this latitude; one of the most distinguished advocates of its contagiousness, wrote to me from Norfolk in 1856, that he did not find one case of contagion there, while he still believes it to be contagious in New-Orleans; if Quarantine can be perfectly isolated in its present locality, that locality presents many advantages, but if it cannot be thoroughly isolated, I should be in favor of its removal; without an armed sanitary police, both on land and water, the isolation of Quarantine must remain a relative phrase, but that isolation would be most complete which would remove Quarantine the greatest distance from inhabited places; yellow fever is known to be a specific infection, and may be conveyed to indefinite distances through the air, and become operative, giving origin to epidemic when temperature, moisture and other climatic conditions favor its propagation; it is not, however, personally contagious.

Judge Dean—Doctor, we plain people don't know anything about contagion or infection, but tell us in plain Saxon, is it catching? [Laughter.]

Doctor Harris—The distinction between contagion and infection—

Judge Dean—I don't know anything of contagion or infection—but is it catching? [Renewed Laughter.]

Doctor Harris—In my opinion it is not catching from person to person, but it is catching in other ways, much the same as you catch influenza, through unseen atmospheric agencies.

Judge Dean—Never mind how we get it, if we have got to have it.

By Mr. Peckham—If yellow fever were to prevail extensively at the north, the question would not become unsettled among the medical fraternity respecting its contagiousness or non-contagiousness. Medical men are agreed pretty well about its non-contagion everywhere. In my own mind there is no doubt whatever about it, that it is not personally contagious.

Dr. HARRIS was the only witness examined yesterday. Dr. THOMPSON being present, the Clerk read over to him his testimony, taken on previous occasions, and he subscribed it. Ex-Judge DEAN, of counsel for defence, asked him whether the sick received any injury from being so summarily removed from the Hospital buildings on the nights of the conflagration? Dr. THOMPSON replied that they did not. The Court adjourned to this morning, at 10 o'clock.

Naval Intelligence.

The following orders have just been issued by the Navy Department:

Pursers W. W. J. KELLY, J. K. HARWOOD and C. C. JACKSON have been ordered to the Paraguay expedition.

Purser JOHN HAMBLETON has been ordered to the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Purser MCKEAN BUCHANAN has been ordered to relieve Purser BATES, as inspector of provisions, &c., at the Boston Navy-yard.

Commander R. SEMMES has been detached from duty as Light-house Inspector of the Mobile District, and appointed Secretary to the Light-house Board in this City.

Lieut. R. T. CHAPMAN has been appointed Light-house Inspector for the Mobile District.

Commander B. F. SANDS has been detached from duty on the Coast Survey, and ordered to duty with the Board of Construction, Equipment and Repairs.

The figures of the recent election (says the Portland, (Me.,) Advertiser) demonstrate conclusively that the Republican Party of Maine has as great popular strength to-day as it exhibited two years ago, when Hannibal Hamlin was elected by a vote so unprecedentedly large. Governor Morrill received at the late election sixty-one thousand votes, and Mr. Hamlin received sixty-nine thousand in 1856. Had there been anything like the same amount of work on the stump and in the important details of organization that there was in 1856, the vote this year would have exceeded seventy thousand.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

September Races—Fashion Course—Third Day.

The Club Races for September, over the Fashion Course, closed yesterday, and, notwithstanding the rain, the attendance was large and the races very interesting—they were as good as those of the first day, and much better than those of the second. An additional importance was attached to the programme for yesterday, from the fact that a race was advertised between Don Juan and Slasher—the foremost two in the handicap of Wednesday. Slasher performed so well on Wednesday, that his owner challenged the owner of Don Juan, on the night after the handicap, to run a race, two mile heats, on Friday, for $10,000. The challenge was accepted, and, contrary to the expectations of many, it was announced at an early hour, that both horses were in good condition, and that the race, as advertised, would be the first of the day. The betting men hastened to make their books, putting down, in the great majority of cases, $100 to $80 that Don Juan would win. Some even bets were made, but these were very few. Prompt to the time, the Sheriff of the County appeared upon the course in his military blue coat, and on his long, lean, lanky charger, who, as is his wont, appeared in a well-worn suit of black. Both straightway began their usual agreeably frantic efforts to clear the course of all who were "not connected with the horses," and soon after the hour named for the race they succeeded. The bugle was sounded, and the horses and riders appeared ready for the start as follows:

TWO MILE HEATS, FOR $10,000.

R. H. DICKINSON'S b. h. Don Juan, GILPATRICK rider, in blue jacket.

THOMAS and THOS. W. DOSWELL'S b. c. Slasher, DAN. WEBSTER rider, in blue jacket and yellow sleeves.

At the tap of the drum they got off well together, Slasher leading. The first mile, and in fact the second, was run without material change of position—Slasher coming in ahead, with Don Juan following him closely. Time, 3:43½.

This result caused some changes in the betting. Even was offered on Slasher, and taken.

On the second heat they started well together, the rain falling fast from the commencement. Before the half-mile pole had been reached, it was apparent that, barring accidents, Slasher must be an easy winner. He commenced and continued to widen the distance between him and Competitor, arriving home on the second mile with the Don far, far behind, winning the heat and race—time, 3:56. Of course, those who had staked their money on Don Juan were sorely disappointed, as those who knew the difference in the conditions of the handicap race and the ordinary race of yesterday, expected they would be. What a "handicap" really is, does not appear to be well understood, even by those who are in the habit of betting on the turf in this country. The handicap race originated in England, in a desire to bring a larger number of horses into the field than could be obtained, where there were two or more horses known to excel in speed. The owners of good horses did not care to enter them against those known to be much faster, and have the mortification of seeing them come toddling home so far behind the fleeter steeds as to subject them to the jokes and jibes of the spectators. The result was that often no more than two or three horses could be entered for a race, and then, if the owner imagined him to be not in good condition, he would withdraw him and spoil the sport. To induce a larger number to enter, it was decided to make up a race in which the horses entering should carry weight in proportion to the best judgment of their speed and powers of endurance, instead of according to their ages, as had been the custom. For instance: Seven pounds extra weight, put upon one of two horses that are equal in point of speed, makes the difference of "a distance" to the horse carrying the extra seven pounds. For the handicap, the supposed speed of the fastest horse, and that of the slowest, is taken, and the fastest horse is made to carry just as much extra weight as in the judgment of the handicapper should reduce his speed in the race to that of the slowest; and the others ranging between the extremes are weighted with the same view to equalization of speed. In the Fashion handicap of Wednesday Don Juan and Slasher (with the others) were weighed in accordance with the handicapper's judgment of their speed. In the race yesterday they were weighed, as is usual, according to their respective ages. The difference was that Don Juan carried ten pounds more weight yesterday than he did in the handicap, and Slasher only two pounds more, making a difference in extra weight of eight pounds against Don Juan. A difference that, supposing both horses to have run just as well yesterday as they did in the handicap, Don Juan would have been more than distanced, for he only beat Slasher on Wednesday about half a length.

Soon after the close of the first race, the weather became more favorable, but enough rain had fallen to make the track heavy—sufficiently so to make it tolerably sure that no great time would be made in the races to follow. Nevertheless, the interest was kept up, and when the second race was announced, the betting was somewhat brisk again. It was for a purse of $500, two-mile heats. The entries were as follows:

John Campbell's ch. m. Laura Spellman, by Wagner, out of Glorvena by Industry............ 6 yrs.

P. C. Bush's ch. m. Parachute, by imp. Yorkshire, out of Heraldry by Herald............ 5 yrs.

W. Kirwin's b. g. M. D——, by Tally Ho, out of Seven Up by imp. Chateau Margaux............ 5 yrs.

W. H. Gibbons' b. f. Goldleaf, by Trojan, out of Goldpin by Boston............ 3 yrs

Parachute was the favorite against the field from the first; Goldleaf was offered by some at odds, and taken; and some brave bets were made both on M. D. and Laura Spellman. At the sound of the bugle, they appeared, and at the tap of the drum they were off, Goldleaf leading, with Parachute about half a length behind, and the others well together. But by the time they had made the first quarter, Parachute had crept up to Goldleaf and was now leading, as he did on coming home in the second mile, with Goldleaf second, M. D. third, and Laura Spellman last. Time, 358.

Although the time was not as good as has been made, it was considered excellent, considering the condition of the track. The second heat was also well contested. Parachute, however, won it in 3:58, and the race. In this heat Laura did remarkably well; she came in second, with the others some lengths behind. This was the best-contested race of the season, and the frequent changes of position during the heats made it the most exciting to the spectators. As soon as the horses had been unsaddled, the course, in front of the grand stand, was filled with people; and while, generally, they were conversing in the best of humor on the excellent race that had just been concluded, there arose noise and confusion in front of the second stand, and the cry of "a fight, a fight!" caused a rush in that direction. In the excitement some of those in the field, at a distance from the scene, climbed up to get a view, and in doing so broke off a piece of board. The Sheriff and his dark steed rushed to the assistance of the fractured board—all the rest ran to see the fight. Such a scene of confusion is seldom to be witnessed, except at a miscellaneous gathering of the "shells" in this City. Everybody was inquiring, but nobody seemed to know who were fighting or what they were fighting about. But all knew that somebody was getting an awful pumelling on short notice. Marshal RYNDERS went down from the grand stand and was soon seen clearing away a passage to the combatants. Captain LEONARD was operating in the same way from another point—Officer BROWN ditto. Seeing them, the Sheriff and his lank steed deserted the fractured board, and rushed at full gallop to within several yards of where the fight was progressing. There seemed now to be some dozen agitated men pummelling some two dozen other men's unoffending noses. The Sheriff riding up and down, frantically (as before) called upon a very large number of people to arrest the fracturers of the board and the peace. But the people didn't relish the job, and the fighting men took no notice of the Sheriff's officers. But now Marshal RYNDERS had opened an avenue through the crowd, and a bloody face appeared. It was that of JAMES IRVING, Esq., of New-York. His friends were holding him, while somebody, who, it was supposed, was not his friend, was whacking away at his face as if the odds were on him against the field. The marshal spoke pleasantly to the gentleman who was doing the principal pummeling, and he subsided. He proved to be PATRICK MATHEWS, Esq., also of New-York. Capt. LEONARD had now made his way in from an opposite direction, expelling the disturbers as he progressed; and Officer BROWN had seized a powerful fat man who couldn't be made to understand why he should be arrested, although the Sheriff insisted that BROWN was right in choking him off. At length peace was restored, and while the Sheriff and his dark steed were running after a chap in drab, who had jumped over the fence, the cause of the fight was stated to be "an old grudge." It was said that PATRICK MATHEWS, Esq., had not had the pleasure of seeing JAMES IRVING Esq., for some time, and that he had undestood that ne Mr. IRVING hada job for him. Mr. IRVING was reported to have invited Mr. MATHEWS to go away, as he did not wish to have any disturbance on the course. Whereupon Mr. MATHEWS is said to have let go his right; and it is further asserted that, as Mr. IRVING was not on the look-out for a blow, Mr. MATHEWS succeeded in getting his aforesaid "right" pretty well in on Mr. IRVING'S "nob." It is reported that Mr. IRVING, after having been nobbed, as aforesaid, stretched out his left suddenly and spasmodically grasped the throat of Mr. PATRICK MATHEWS, of New-York. And it is added, that he gave Mr. MATHEWS a punch in the head with his most effective member; on the receipt of which, the report continues, Mr. MATHEWS went down. Then, as saith the report, the friends of Mr. IRVING seized him to take him away, but the crowd was so great they couldn't, so they held him fast, while Mr. MATHEWS, who was up again, "peppered him like thunder." It was not until the arrival of the Marshal, that he could be induced to cease from peppering. At length the track was cleared, and there was a prospect that the four-mile race would soon be run. But just at that moment Mr. IRVING appeared on the Course, and Mr. P. MATHEWS—at a short distance—expressed an opinion. Mr. IRVING was a little riled—as was evident from the peculiar manner in which he pulled off his coat. It was now interesting again. Mr. P. MATHEWS was going up wildly to the sacrifice, when Marshal RYNDERS appeared again, just in the nick of time, and carried him off bodily.

The race for a purse of $1,000, four-mile heats, was then announced, and the following horses appeared in answer to the call:

JOHN CAMPBELL'S ch. m. Lizzie M'Donald, by Revenue, out of Sarah Washington by Zinganee............ 5 yrs.

R. H. DICKINSON'S ch. h. Gov. Wickliffe, by imp. Glencoe, out of Motto by imp. Barefoot............ 4 yrs.

There was very little betting, as Lizzie was thought sure to win, and she did, easily—time, first heat, 7:59; second, 8:00.

RECAPITULATION.

FRIDAY, OCT. 1.—FIRST RACE. Match $10,000, two mile heats:

THOMAS W. DOSWELL, b. h. Slasher............1 1

B. H. DICKINSON, b. h. Don Juan............2 2

Time—3:43½; 3:56.

SECOND RACE.—Purse $500. Two-mile heats:

P. G. BUSH, ch. m. Parachute............1 1

J. CAMPBELL, ch. m. Laura Speliman............4 2

M. KERWIN, b. g. M. D.............3 3

W. H. GIBBON, b. f. Goldleaf............2 4

Time: 3:58—3:58.

THIRD RACE.—Purse $1,000; four mile heats.

J. CAMPBELL, ch. m. Lizzie McDonald............1 1

R. H. DICKINSON, ch. h. Gov. Wicklife............2 2

Time—7:59; 8:00.

THE BURNT STEAMSHIP AUSTRIA.

More Names of the Lost—Further Statements.

Professor GLAUBENSKLEE gives the following names of persons who, he personally knows, were passengers on board the Austria:

1. MELCHER, music teacher from New-York, widely known here.

2. BOCKENTHAL, from Mobile.

3. STOPEL, or STOPLER, a young man in company of the latter.

4. ABRAMS, from St. Louis, who left here on July 10 on board the Ariel, for Germany.

5. ANNA BECKER, engaged as governess by Mr. A. HAVEMEYER, of New-York.

6. An elderly lady from Buckeburg, known as the Frau Medicinal-rath, under whose protection the above young lady was placed.

7. A young lady, about 17 years of age, whose uncle has an office in Beekman-street, and friend of ANNA BECKER.

8. A young relation of Mr. BACHE, retailer of dry goods.

9. ADLER, from Prague, under whose protection the rescued MARIE FRIEDRICH was traveling.

10. A Jewish lady, from Essex-street, a steerage passenger.

11. A young man from Belleville, Ill., with two sisters, nineteen and twenty-two years of age, whom he had gone to bring over from Germany.

The gentleman whom Professor GLAUBENSKLEE names MELCHER was, probably, Mr. OSWALD E. MILECHAR, Professor of music of the Barhamville Institute, South Carolina, formerly of Harmony College. As he was a good swimmer, his friends are not without hope that he may have kept afloat until the Norwegian bark alluded to in the narratives of survivors came to the rescue.

ANOTHER STATEMENT BY PROF. GLAUBENSKLEE.

Mr. GLAUBENSKLEE, Professor of the Free Academy, and a passenger on board the Austria, desires us to correct some of the statements of Mr. BERRY, which he believes to be incorrect. Prof. GLAUBENSKLEE says:

"As far as I am able to judge, I never in my life met with a better set of officers than I met on the Austria. As far as I could see, the discipline of the vessel was excellent. The only fault that I could find was that some of the food was bad.

Mr. HAHN left the Austria soon after the fire broke out, falling into the water while engaged in lowering the first boat on the port side. When he arrived, after sunset, on the Maurice, he immediately wanted to go back after more, but was prevented by the captain, who, through me, as interpreter, pointed out the impossibility of saving any more in the darkness. The captain peremptorily refused to let any more men go. It was so dark, he considered it impossible to do any good, and said he would risk no more lives.

I did not hear any cries in the water during the night, except about eight o'clock, being those of the second officer, who was rescued.

I never saw a better set of men than the captain, officers and crew of the Maurice, and never expect to."

Professor GLAUBENSKLEE states that the boat which he saw far astern had twenty persons in it, and was probably the one subsequently picked up by the Maurice.

It was the boatswain's mate, not the boatswain, who assisted in the tar-burning. The boatswain, JAN H. NAGEL, was afterwards active on the quarter-deck, doing all he could to save the passengers.

It is thought when the Hammonia arrives here we shall probably have a full list of the crew and passengers of the Austria.

The consignees of the Austria in this City sent the rescued who arrived here on Wednesday in a state of destitution, to a hotel, and gave orders for their entertainment at the expense of the Company as long as they might require to remain the City. Yesterday they likewise gave to six of them $25 each to furnish themselves with clothing, and to meet their immediate wants. The others stood in need of no such assistance, or it would have been handed to them all alike.

Mr. KEYSER, and Mr. NEUMAN, both of California, whose names appeared among the list of passengers on board the Austria, it has since been ascertained arrived too late at Hamburg and consequently did not embark on board the ill-fated vessel, but they would sail on the 1st of October.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the German Society on Wednesday, Mr. JELLINGHAUS, President, in the chair, an animated discussion was had, apropos of the Austria disaster, about the best plan to prevent conflagration at sea. The subject was finally referred to a Convention of delegates of various emigrant societies in the United States, to be held on the 1st and 2d of October at Pythagoras Hall, in Canal-street. The Convention had been previously called by the German Society to take measures for the enactment of certain laws for the protection of emigrants.

Mr. WILLIAN, of Baltimore, had received advices from Hamburg, assuring him of the departure of his wife and family on the Austria. By this letter, it appeared that they were in company with several of their returning friends, and ascertaining that they could not secure the requisite number of births in the first cabin, reluctantly resorted to the second. In company with Mrs. WILLIAN were supposed to be a Mr. MEYENBERG, whose brother resides in Alexandria, with his sister, (Mrs. REICHART,) and three children, besides other friends from Baltimore, all of whose names do not appear, from the above cause, among the cabin passengers.

The Alexandria Sentinel, however, says that a letter has been received, from which it is regarded as almost certain that Mr. MEYENBERG did not embark on the Austria; also, that Mrs. WILLIAN was a sister of Mr. MEYENBERG. Upon this supposition new hopes have arisen, that the letter announcing Mrs. WILLIAN'S shipment may have been premature.

The American flag upon the Staats Zeitung office, and also the signals upon the ships of the Hamburg and Bremen lines of steamers, have been displayed at half-mast, on account of the disaster to the Austria.

How to Save Lives at Sea in the Event of a Fire or Foundering.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Probably the best organization for the security of the lives of the passengers in case of fire or collision, existed on board the Pacific Mail Company's ship the John L. Stevens, Captain R. H. PEARSON running between Panama and San Francisco. As soon as the ship was fairly clear of the port, a notice was posted on the bulletin board requesting the passengers to meet on the quarter-deck, when it was announced to them by the Captain, that for the better security of life and property, it was his custom to form, with the aid of the passengers, what was termed the "fire brigade," and he invited them to join the ship's company in the organization, which it is needless to say was heartily approved of by all. The Captain's system was as follows:

First, a boat-guard of twenty-one men was enrolled, and as far as possible they were chosen from among the most reliable of the cabin passengers, who were allowed to elect one of their number as captain of the guard; they were then armed with cutlasses, and two of them stationed at each boat, and instructed as to their duties, and with orders to cut down any one who attempted to launch a boat in case of alarm, without orders. The boats were numbered, and each man kept the station appointed to him during the trip.

Thirty-two seamen were then selected, four for each boat; many seamen were found among the passengers, and the balance made up from the ship's crew. Each set of davits had a captain, who had charge of two boats on board ship; if no experienced or competent person could be found among the passengers, some of the officers or quartermasters of the ship was assigned to that duty. Twelve carpenters were selected, or persons well acquainted with the use of the axe, and each one furnished with an axe kept in excellent order; they were under the charge of the "ship's" carpenter, and, in case of an alarm, were mustered on the forward-deck to await orders. Twelve men were enrolled for the forward force-pump, and twelve for the after one, and six for the mid-ship pump; they were selected from those best acquainted with fire-engines, each squad being subject to a quartermaster, who had charge of the hose and tended to the butt. The engineers, firemen and coal-passers off duty were stationed at the "Worthington Pumps," and attached to the hose. The second officer had charge of the magazine, with orders to flood it if necessary. It was the duty of the stewards to see all ports shut, to prevent draft; and a number of waiters mustered amidships with buckets in case of need. It was the duty of the storekeeper to call the roll in each department, and report to the Captain of the ship if any were delinquent.

The chief officer and chief engineer were at hand to carry out such orders as the captain might think proper to give. After all the different departments were made to understand the duties assigned them, they were called to quarters by the ringing of the large bell, which could be distinctly heard in all parts of the ship. The hose was attached to the different pumps, and four heavy streams of water thrown into the air to the delight of all the passengers. All the boat's crews were then mustered together, and the third officer, with a picked boat's crew, instructed them how to expeditiously take a boat from the chocks, hook the davit tackles and swing the boat out ready for lowering. The brigade numbered about 112 men, and were exercised daily, or until they were familiar with their several duties. It was gratifying to note the rapidity with which they went through the exercises. They were often called to quarters, the roll called and all reported ready for duty inside of three minutes. It was deemed almost impossible for a fire to occur that could not be put out in a few minutes. This organization was not only useful in case of fire or collision, but in case of springing a leak a panic would be prevented, the boats taken care of, and the lives of the passengers and crew secured.

At the time the Central America was lost, the John L. Stephens was probably the only ship that carried eight boats—four of them life-boats, fully equipped, with a cask of water lashed into each. The ship had also her complement of life-preservers, made of cork, kept in good order and at hand, and was supplied with 1,200 feet of best quality of hose, and abundant pump-geer in good order.

The above facts are stated that the public may know that such fearful accidents, as too frequently occur on board steamships, can be avoided, if proper steps are taken to insure good discipline.

Frequently during the voyage the fire-bell was rung at a late hour of the night, without any previous intimation, when all the passengers were in their berths asleep, and although ignorant of the object, and whether the ship was really on fire or not, the alacrity and perfect confidence with which every man repaired to his post, proved most satisfactorily the success of the organization, and so popular did Captain PIERSON'S system become, that many waited for his ship to take passage on board a vessel where they felt that there was always security to life in case of accident. Let Captain PIERSON'S system be followed by sea-going ships, and we shall have fewer such heart-rending calamities as the fate of the Austria to record.

A PASSENGER.

The Austria—Correction.

F. KAYSER, and N. NEWMAN, both of California were reported to have been on board the Austria. We are assured by a person who has letters from them that they would not leave Germany until the steamer of the 1st of October.

☞ A purse of $51 has been made up for CHARLES F. V. ROSEN, one of the survivors of the Austria catastrophe, whose interesting statement has been published in the TIMES. Of this sum $25 was contributed by the Hamburg Steamship Company, and the rest was collected in small sums from persons who felt interested in the lad and his misfortunes. The proprietors of the Rainbow Hotel on Beekman-street, where young ROSEN has boarded since his arrival in this City, have refused to receive any compensation from him, and a free pass by steamer has been offered him from New-York to Richmond, Va., where he resides.

Sea and Ship News.

RAVAGES OF YELLOW FEVER ON HOG ISLAND.—The Schooner T. E. French, WEBB, Captain, from Suffolk, Va., arrived yesterday, in two days from Hog Island, with shingles to BENTON & BROTHERS. Captain WEBB states, that it was reported at Hog Island, Sept. 29, that a schooner from the West Indies had put in there, and run on shore on Ship Shoal Inlet, and that all hands, except the Captain and cook, had died of fever. Assistance had been sent to her.

THE NICARAGUAN STEAMBOATS.—Three steamboats, intended to ply on the Nicaraguan Lake and River, have lately been dispatched for Greytown. The first of these, the Cass Yrissari, Captain SLOCUM, which left this port on the 6th of September, intending to call at Key West for coal, has not yet been heard from. As it is nearly a month since she sailed, some anxiety is felt for her safety, though the agents think she may have reached Nicaragua without calling at Key West. Captain SLOCUM was an experienced commander, and he had a good crew. Great reliance is placed on these facts.

The Catharine Maria, Captain PAINE, which sailed, on the 9th of September, for San Juan del Norte, first put into Beaufort, N. C., and afterwards called at Savannah, which port she left on the 15th. The Laura Frances put into Norfolk on the 15th, and sailed thence on the 17th for her destination, via Key West.

The boats of the Union Ferry Company, yesterday, had their flags displayed at half-mast, as a token of respect to the memory of Mr. DANIEL WAGNER, whose funeral took place yesterday.

LOSS OF THE EMILY ST. PIERRE.

The following dispatch was received in this city yesterday, by Messrs. JOHN FRASER & Co., from Messrs. TRENHOLM BROS. & Co., of New-York:

"NEW-YORK, Tuesday, Sept. 28.—FRASER, TRENHOLM & Co. advise loss of the ship Emily St. Pierre, in Bengal, near Calcutta. Particulars by next India mail."

The ship Emily St. Pierre, Captain, TESSIER, left this port on the 27th of last January, for Liverpool, where she arrived on the 11th of March following. On the 19th of April, Captain TESSIER cleared his vessel for Calcutta, since which no intelligence has been received from her, until the above dispatch. The Emily St. Pierre was built in 1854, and was one of the finest American merchantmen afloat. As a cotton carrier she had no superior. Captain TESSIER, her commander, is a thoroughly capable seaman, of more than ordinary general information, and we are confident that nothing which seamanship could suggest or presence of mind execute, was omitted to save the ship, which was his pride.

The Emily St. Pierre was owned in this city by the houses of JOHN FRASER & Co., E. LAFITTE & Co., and R. D. BACOT. There is $4,500 insurance on the hull at the Firemen's Insurance in this city, and the balance (understood to cover the loss) at an office in Boston, Mass.; $70,000 is also insured upon her, including freight, at a New-York office. The cargo is undoubtedly insured in England. Messrs. E. LAFITTE & Co. are insured $5,000 at the American office in Boston, and $4,000 at the South Carolina office in this city.—Charleston Mercury.

THE GREAT BELL CREVASSE.—The Picayune says: "A friend, who visited this scene of disaster day before yesterday, gives us some details of its present appearance. The crevasse is about 300 feet wide at its opening on the river, and extends back a quarter of a mile to the Opelousas railroad track, varying in depth from 5 to 40 feet. The surface soil of Mr. BELL'S plantation is entirely washed away for nearly half a mile back from the river, and the mass of logs and drift-wood scattered about gives the place the appearance of the mouth of the Mississippi through the pass called the 'Jump.' The deposit of earth made by the waters is entirely in the woods, just the place, as Mr. BELL informed our friend, where he wanted such an accumulation of soil, and by which means a large tract of land is reclaimed that was formerly useless. The heaviest deposit of soil is however, above and below the crevasse. The property next below Mr. BELL'S is much improved by it. The 'Harvey Canal,' on which so much money has been spent in the last five years, to render it of use to the many fine plantations of the interior, has, it would appear, been much injured by the crevasse."

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

BOSTON, Wednesday, Sept. 29, 1858.

The work of nominating candidates for Congress has been fully commenced, and with no very flattering results to either old members or new aspirants. In the Tenth District, Mr. DELANO, of Northampton, who had hardly been named, beat Dr. CHAFFEE and Purser GREENE, who wished for his place. The fight was supposed to be between the Doctor, the Purser and Mr. FOSTER, and all three were cut off in the pride of their prime, and the Northampton Lawyer was put up. The lesson is a salutary one, or rather it would be if crazy politicians were capable of learning anything from any teaching. The result is excellent; even the Boston Courier, which has about as many good words for Republicans as Dives had alms for Lazarus, frankly admitting that the nomination is a good one, and does honor to the Republican Party.

The Know-Nothings of the Fourth, the first of the Boston Districts, and including Roxbury and Brookline, held a Convention on the 25th, and after eighteen ballotings, adjourned for a week. It had been intended by the action of this Convention to control that of the Banks Party, or that of the Democrats, but both schemes failed. Those who preferred to go with the Democrats voted for Col. THOMPSON, while those who look to the Republicans voted for Mr. COMINS, who now represents the District. Had Mr. COMINS said he was a Know-Nothing, he would probably have been nominated; but he referred to his past course. More than a third of the Delegates would not vote for either of the gentlemen named.

The American Republican Convention met yesterday afternoon, in No. 4, and, after several ballotings, nominated Mr. COMINS, by a vote of 38 to 35. This was unexpected, and it is at the present moment quite impossible to say what the effect will be. Could Mr. CHOATE have been induced to stand as the Anti-Republican candidate, he might have carried the district; but he is understood positively to have refused to be the candidate of any combination or party, or to allow his name to be used in any way. Much now depends upon the action of the Democrats. It has been suggested that Mr. WALLEY should be nominated by the opponents of Mr. COMINS, but as he holds office under Governor BANKS, I do not believe he could be prevailed upon to stand. He had within ten votes of the number necessary to nominate him on one of the ballotings in yesterday's Convention, and so would have too much "sectionalism" for the Democracy. The "odor of nationality" that he diffuses is by no means of the strength to which Democratic nostrils are accustomed. Governor BANKS is understood to be warmly favorable to Mr. COMINS, and that is greatly in his favor.

The resolves passed at the Charlestown Democratic meeting have excited not a little indignation among the mass of the Democratic Party, because of their extreme hunkerism, and their indirect denunciation of Mr. DOUGLAS. They are better suited to Charles*ton* than to Charles*town*. As to Mr. DOUGLAS, he is in high favor with our Democracy, not more than one in a hundred of their number going with the President, though they see no reason for quarreling with the latter, whom they they think will end his public life in '61. The New-Hampshire Gazette, a steady old Democratic journal, denounces the Charlestown resolves in strong language. The fact is that if the idea should prevail that these resolves embody the Democratic doctrine, all hope of "redeeming" such States as New-Hampshire, Maine and Connecticut must be given up, and eternal local defeat be accepted as the natural Democratic condition. But those who condemn the resolves do not know, perhaps, that there are two or three good offices yet to be filled in Massachusetts, and that gentlemen who aspire to fill them naturally set their songs to the "court tune." Let Mr. DOUGLAS triumph in Illinois, or even keep the fight there open until '60, and these same gentlemen will be found all right on the "popular sovereignty" question. They don't care a fig, no, not even a sultana raisin, for Slavery, but they operate with the tools that they find to their hands.

Both the supporters of Gov. BANKS and of Mr. BEACH are making arrangements for meetings in Faneuil Hall in October. The Know-Nothings, too, are to have a meeting there, to ratify the nomination of Mr. LAWRENCE. That gentleman, by the way, neither accepts nor declines the Know-Nothing nomination for Governor, which is virtually to accept it. He evidently cares nothing about office of any kind, or he would not remain silent. He is opposed, in the most decided manner, to the plan of uniting the Democratic and the K. N. Parties in support of the same candidates for the Legislature, with the view of preventing the reëlection of Gen. WILSON to the Senate, and he expresses his opinion with characteristic frankness.

The belief that we must have a new protective tariff is fast gaining ground in New-England, and will have its effect on politics. Men say that times are good when the tariff is high, and bad when it is low, whatever may be the virtues of free-trade. We shall never have a revival of business, they add, until the tariff shall have been revised favorably to "home industry." Whether political economy justifies their view, I can't say; but I don't wonder they talk so, for here we are, a year after the occurrence of the panic, and business is as dull as it is at La Trappe. Even grave-digging is looking down. Something must be done, and as men always look to Government for aid, as the classical wagoner looked to Hercules to get his vehicle out of the rut, "protection" will be the thing called for. The hope expressed by a Republican journal of your City, "that no attempt will be made in any quarter to connect the success of the Republican Party with the revival of the exploded system of protection," will not be much encouraged in New-England. I hear that if Gov. BOUTWELL should be nominated in the Eighth District, he will be directly questioned as to his views on the protection question, as he is supposed to be a free-trader. Lowell is in that District, and free-trade is not the most popular of things in that part of the world. Gen. BUTLER, who is expected to be the Democratic candidate, is said to be in favor of such changes in the tariff as would greatly favor the manufacturing interest. After all, the Democrats have done more for that interest than ever was done for it by the Opposition. The Eighth District is to a large extent the same as that which was represented by Mr. PARMENTER, a Democrat, and you will recollect Mr. WEBSTER gave him the credit of preventing the defeat of the tariff of 1842. Gentlemen who wish for national offices at the hands of the Republicans may be very urgent that "protection" should be dropped, but our working people are of a very different opinion. I doubt if even the ghost of ADAM SMITH could convince most of our voters of the excellence of free-trade when they are out of work, with Winter at hand, and money so plentiful that it can't be had—for use.

Are you not a little strong on the Boston papers because of the remarks made on the death of old EBEN FRANCIS? My impression was that they said about as little of the old gentleman as they well could. For the death of a man who owned five millions is no ordinary incident even in a business point of view, and that was the sole point from which he could have viewed even death's "operations." They certainly didn't "puff" him, for there was literally nothing in his long life that would admit of eulogy. Perhaps no man ever lived, with means so ample to do good, who did so little for the welfare of others. I cannot learn that he was ever guilty of a benevolent action. He was consistent in extreme and utter selfishness. The story goes that the spiritualists have "rapped him up," and that he says he has no desire to return to Boston while rents are so low, and money is so abundant and cheap. Four per cent. per annum is nothing to one whose idea of Paradise was four per cent. a month, with gilt-edged paper at that. His will breathes his hard and iron nature. Not a dollar has he given to promote any noble object. The bulk of his fortune is settled on his grandchildren, nine in number—children of Mrs. BOWDITCH and Mrs. MASON. Under what mountains of gold will the poor things be smothered! I am told that he gave $1,200 a year to his nurse, but I presume it is a mistake, as the accounts that are current of his doings are very contradictory. He held on to the "tin" as long as he could, and did all he could to make it useless for good after his power of holding on to it should be no more. Contemplating the whole thing, one is almost led to doubt whether there is any moral government of the world. [Since writing the above, I have read what purports to be his will, and find that he gave the $1,200 a year as reported. The legacies are mostly small as meanness could make them, and will lead to some pretty comprehensive cursing, I suspect. It is not every man who could manage to be perfectly contemptible in death.]

Captain TOWNSEND, of the Echo, has been committed for trial. He is in about as much danger of dying as the rest of us.

The Police of Boston are to be uniformed in October. The measure was not adopted until after a very hard fight. There was quite a row about it at the last meeting of our Aldermen. One member of the Board, who must possess an uncommonly sanguine temperament, thought the clothing of the Policemen in uniform would tend to keep members of the City Government out of rum-shops.

Our Bank dividends for October do not differ essentially from what they were in April. They are good, but not striking. The Suffolk maintains its preeminence, 5 per cent. for six months. Money is a drug with us, and if there should not be a change soon, capital will be a source of poverty. Good paper is sought for, and has not to seek for discount. This is the golden age of the borrower.

The war between the Suffolk Bank and the country banks is growing in bitterness, as well as in extent of operations. The Suffolk sent $40,000 of the Mount Wollaston Bank's bills to that institution, the other day, and demanded the red gold for them; and when it had been as coolly counted out as if the demand had been for Quincy granite, the messenger couldn't carry off his treasure until he had been assisted by one of the officers of the Mount Wollaston! CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS is President of the latter institution, and he has a big pile at his back. The Lowell banks have been very hard run. The prospect is that the matter will enter into our politics. The country banks, it is said, mean to petition the next Legislature to take the Suffolk's charter from it, and will threaten not to discount any paper until their prayer shall have been granted. They will base their petition on the ground that the Suffolk extorts money from them. As there will be nothing national in the election of 1859, it wouldn't be a bad thing to get up a local quarrel for that year, and see what the effect would be. We could fall out then without hazarding freedom for Kansas.

The Brighton Bank swindle shows how small is the dependence that can be placed on externals, and adds another chapter to the dreary volume of human villany. WOODWORTH had every inducement to be an honest man that ought to operate on an ordinary nature. He had been very successful in getting on in the world. His salary was sufficient to afford him all the comforts of life. He was so well thought of that he would not have experienced any trouble in raising money to accomplish legitimate ends; yet, in spite of his favorable circumstances, he must needs turn knave, and do his friends much injury. Of course he was an adept in the religious dodge, and had recently given a thousand dollars (that he had stolen) towards building a new place of worship for the society of which he was a member. As a horse was necessary for his comfort, he kept a nice one, and "went the pace" at a slapping rate. Whether he had any others of those little luxuries that so agreeably relieve the harassments of business, I do not know; but crinoline is seldom out of the bills on such occasions. The amount of the loss will be $40,000, according to the general estimate, but there is a story current about some twenty thousand dollars in bank bills that were to have been burnt, but which were said only to have burned certain people's fingers. The highest estimate that I have heard, and it is from a good source, puts the figures at $64,500. The Bank will not lose all this, as the scamp has given up some property, and the bondsmen are good for a large amount. The exact facts will probably never be known, unless the Commissioners should deem it their duty to look into the business. The Bank is said to have a reserved fund that will make up for any abstraction from its capital. Mr. WOODWORTH is treated quite leniently, and expects to go to the West when he shall have arranged his little "transactions" with his kind employers. I hope they will not have what little silver he has left them converted into a service of plate on which to serve up the fruits of "industry" to the occidentals whom he purposes to honor with his agreeable presence. The ugly question, what bank officer is to be trusted? naturally occurs to the inquiring mind. Ten days ago WOODWORTH's integrity was beyond suspicion; now he is a rogue of the dirtiest water. Who is to be the next "unfortunate man?"

The Hamilton Willis case has ended in the discharge of Mr. WILLIS, much to the gratification of the reporters, who found it as great a bore as the Paraguay expedition has been to the country at large. The object of the writ was indirectly to revise the force of the old imprisonment for debt laws, but it did not succeed. The general impression is, that Mr. WILLIS's failure was an honest one, and that he has been unjustly harassed. The pound of flesh, however, was not got, under better law than Judge Portia laid down.

The comet "shows up" very beautifully, and people of the "little Jacky Hobbleday" class, are anxiously inquiring whether it is the same one that is mentioned in the New-York papers, thinking it strange that it should be visible from places so far apart as the two cities.

Autumn is treating us coolly, though there is considerable sunshine. October is our autumnal month for beauty, and is more thought of than September.

Execution of the Rev. Preston S. Turley for the Murder of his Wife—His Address upon the Scaffold—Distressing Scenes, &c.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

CHARLESTON, Kanawha County, Va., Sept. 17, 1858.

The Rev. PRESTON S. TURLEY expiated to-day upon the scaffold the crime of murdering his wife, in this county, in January last. The scene was one of unusual sadness, rendered so no less from the high standing which the unfortunate culprit once occupied in this community, than from the strange spectacle of the execution of a white man in this region. It was the first occurrence of the kind ever known to have taken place within the county.

From an early hour in the morning the streets were crowded with persons who had assembled to witness the sad scene. Up to the hour (10 o'clock A. M.) designated by the Sheriff, Mr. SLACK, for the transfer of the prisoner from the jail to the scaffold, which was near by, he seemed perfectly calm and collected. He spent a portion of the previous night in company with the Rev. Messrs. SMITH, CLARK, DORSEY and BROWN, engaging with them zealously in prayer. He shaved and dressed himself with care, and seemed much calmer than those around him. Up to the moment of his leaving the jail, his conduct rather resembled that of one about to start upon a journey, than that of an individual doomed soon to suffer the extreme penalty of the law. While some were disposed to attribute his coolness to a spirit of bravado, he himself attributed it to a conviction that he had made his peace with God. Many presumptuously doubt the sincerity of his conversion, forgetting the infinitude of God's mercy in the aggravated character of the crime for which he atoned. The murder of a woman—a wife, moreover—with many here seems an unpardonable offence, and one which even that boundless mercy cannot compass. In this instance, however, there is reason to hope, from the manifest sincerity of the culprit's repentance, that he has made his peace with his Maker.

The prisoner exhibited the greatest anxiety that his father, mother and three children, who arrived in town last evening, should accompany him to the scaffold and witness the execution. In this he was gratified, so far as appertained to his father, mother, and the youngest of his children. The other two were not permitted by their friends to be present, from an apprehension that the influence of so awful a spectacle would leave impressions unfavorable to their future happiness. They had attained an age which would enable them fully to appreciate the dread scenes and be influenced by its memory. Not so, however, with the youngest; she was yet too young to create any apprehensions of this nature.

Before leaving his cell, he took his last farewell of his fellow prisoners, and kissed and caressed his children, expressing his bitter regret that he could not be gratified by allowing his children to be with him at his last moments. Proceeding from the cell, he entered an omnibus, accompanied by the Sheriff, Jailor, Mr. MILLS, his night guard while in jail, Dr. WATKINS, the Jail Physician, and the Revs. Messrs. BROWN, PATTERSON, CLARK and SMITH. The omnibus was escorted by a volunteer guard of citizens, no regularly organized military company being in the town. On the route, the prisoner saluted many old friends of his whom he recognized, exhibiting the whole time a remarkable degree of self-possession and coolness.

At 10:35 o'clock he ascended the scaffold with a firm step and took his seat. He was accompanied by the Sheriff and clergy already named. Immediately upon ascending the scaffold, the Rev. Mr. BROWN gave out the hymn, "When I can read my title clear," with a request that all present would join in singing it. During this service the prisoner's voice was distinctly audible above all others. This part being concluded, the Rev. Mr. SMITH read, from the 15th chapter of St. Luke, the parable of the prodigal son. Prayer was then offered by the Rev. Mr. BROWN, the prisoner meanwhile responding audibly. He then engaged silently in prayer.

At a quarter past 11 o'clock he stepped to the front of the platform and with much feeling proceeded to address the assembly. He attributed the condition to which he was brought to whisky, while there were, he said, other additional causes at work to produce it. Whisky, said he, was the cause of his committing the murder; whisky was the cause of his now being compelled to separate from his three little ones, from his aged parents, from the world; it had incarcerated him in jail for eight months and nine days; and, in a few minutes, he would, through its agency, be hurled into eternity. True, said he, I have been a hardened sinner, but I trust by faithful and fervent prayer to God, I have gained pardon. Many who are now present have heard me preach often, and I trust they will take heed to this my last sermon. I freely forgive all who have offended me, and I trust that the same charity will be extended to me by those against whom I have offended. I have made a confession, in which I have revealed all of my sins that I could recollect; some of course I could not recollect, which were committed while under the influence of liquor; but these are embraced in my repentance, and I expect forgiveness for them. He continued very much in this strain for about three-quarters of an hour. At the conclusion he requested that "Jerusalem my happy home" might be sung, remarking that many present had sung it with him under happy circumstances. He started the hymn himself. In the course of the singing he called his father on the platform and threw himself upon his bosom, suspending the singing only long enough to say "farewell," resuming it immediately after. He acted similarly with his mother, and then took his little daughter in his arms and kissed her, meanwhile keeping up the singing almost without interruption. They then left the scene. He then shook hands with many of his friends, including two of his wife's brothers, singing all the while. This scene brought tears to the eyes of every one present.

At the close of the hymn he addressed the Sheriff and said, "I am ready to die." The rope was then adjusted around his neck, and now for the first time did he seem to falter. He shuddered and appealed to God for mercy in a most fervent manner. He told the Sheriff, "Cut the rope quick that I may go to Jesus." And then proceeded to repeat the words, "Lord Jesus receive my spirit," and continued to repeat it until the Sheriff touched the spring, and consummated that last act of this awful drama. He died without a struggle. The body was allowed to swing for forty minutes, when it was taken down and deposited in a neat coffin. The deceased was 30 years of age, and a gentleman of fine talent.

Real Estate Predictions.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

It has become common with men now-a-days to make predictions. The writer begs leave to put a few on record, they are as follows:

In five years' time every Bank of large business now in Wall-street, and below it, will, by the changes that will naturally be made in that direction, have a majority in their Board in favor of going as high up as the Park and above it, and the buildings erected by the Bank of the State of New-York, Bank of New-York, Bank of Commerce, be looked upon as monuments of folly.

That the large business in the various kinds of jobbing to the country, dry goods, hardware, etc., etc., will, in five years, all be above Chambers-street, and that in Broadway the store just below Grace Church, in Eleventh-street, will be a good location for that kind of business, and the ground between Mercer-street and Broadway almost entirely built up for that purpose; and in ten years' time, to be below Canal-street will be an undesirable location.

That the steamboats from Providence, Hartford, and all points East, will have their docks at points as high up as Grand-street, or above it, and those from points of importance on the Hudson River not above Fourteenth-street, and all in ten years' time.

That a Post-Office building, for purposes of convenience to the largest number of parties doing business in five years from this time, would be exactly central if near Broadway and Worth-street, or where the Broadway Theatre now stands; but in ten years' time below the centre of trade, and in twenty years' time so far below the great business of this then immense City as to, from necessity, require a removal.

That the ten to fifteen antediluvians that have their offices in South-street and vicinity, and owning property in that quarter, and withal directors in those banks that have, within the last three years, erected those expensive buildings in Wall-street with the money of the stockholders, and who give forth their wisdom through the Chamber of Commerce, will, in two years, be looked upon as fossils, curious men that urged the location of the Post-Office in the present location.

Correction of R. A. Locke's Testimony—The Rev. Dr. Winslow Not at the Burning of Quarantine.

To the Editor of the New-York Times.

Mr. RICHARD A. LOCKE testified before the Police Commissioners to having seen the Rev. Dr. WINSLOW, of St. Paul's Church, at the burning of the Marine Hospital, "looking on with complacency, and apparently with some degree of satisfaction." I suppose I am the individual referred to, and have only to say that I was not on the Island on either of the nights in question, and had not the most distant idea that such an act was contemplated.

GORDON WINSLOW.

Papers that have published the error in the testimony of Mr. LOCKE will confer a kindness by making the correction.

Lola Montez's Lectures for the Church.

The following correspondence explains itself:

NEW-YORK, Wednesday, Sept. 29, 1858.

Rev. RALPH HOYT: The account which I have seen in the daily press of the great loss you sustained by the destruction of the Church of the Good Shepherd, and of the sacrificing devotion with which you are trying to rebuild it, have awakened in my mind the strongest desire to do something to aid you in your worthy but hard undertaking.

Had I not been prostrated with sickness, I should have expressed this sympathy at an earlier day; but I am now, by the blessing of Heaven, so far recovered as to be able to lecture again, and it will give me great pleasure to read one of my lectures, perhaps the one on Rome, at any time and place within the next two weeks, the proceeds to be added to the fund for rebuilding your Church.

With the utmost respect,
Your obedient servant,
LOLA MONTEZ.

NEW-YORK, Friday, Oct. 2, 1858.

To Madam Lola Montez, Countess Landsfelt:

Your very generous offer to read a lecture to aid in rebuilding our Church, recently destroyed by a tornado, is gratefully appreciated and accepted. The edifice is designed for the benefit of poor people, by the preaching and practice of Christian truth, in its primitive simplicity and disinterested love. Some five thousand dollars are yet needed to complete the work, and your kind proposition is therefore very opportune. Arrangements will be made forthwith, and the lecture announced at your earliest convenience.

With much respect, your obedient servant,
R. HOYT, Rector.

The Franking Privilege.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

A few weeks since, I saw certain letters which had lately been written by a minister of one of the denominations, who is not undistinguished in the world of letters. These documents were not on political subjects. They related to an enterprise in which the minister was engaged; but they were franked by "E. C——G." Will you, if you are "posted up" in these matters, tell me whether it is customary for Members of Congress to extend their franking privilege to ministers of a particular denomination, and whether the ministers of any one denomination are accustomed to avail themselves of that privilege?

HONESTUS.

The Firemen's Muster in Albany.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

SIR: In the report of the Firemen's Muster at Albany, in your paper and others of this date, it is stated that Engine No. 5, of Utica, burst her hose, which is an error. The couplings (a patent arrangement) were blown off the hose, on account of the shanks (of the couplings) being too short.

The hose used was the coated hemp hose.

By inserting the above in your valuable journal you will much oblige

AN EYE WITNESS.

Professor Mitchel's Telescopic View of the Comet.

Professor MITCHEL communicates to the Cincinnati Gazette the result of his observations of DONATI's Comet, from the Cincinnati Observatory. He says the Comet will soon commence to change direction, at first slowly, afterward more rapidly, as seen from the earth, when sweeping swiftly round the sun it will regain those distant regions of space wherein a vast proportion of its orbit lies far beyond the reach of telescopic vision.

On the evening of the 25th of Sept., the appearance of the comet, in the great refractor of the Cincinnati Observatory, was especially interesting. The central portion, or nucleus, was examined with powers varying from one hundred to five hundred, without presenting any evidence of a well-defined planetary disc. It was a brilliant glow of light, darting and flashing forward in the direction of the motion toward the sun, and leaving the region behind in comparative obscurity. But the most wonderful physical feature presented was a portion of a nearly circular nebulous ring, with its vertex directed toward the sun, the bright nucleus being in the centre, while the imperfect ring swept more than half round the luminous centre. This nebulous ring resembled those which sometimes escape from a steam-pipe, but did not exhibit the appearance which ought to be presented by a hollow hemispherical envelope of nebulous matter.

There was an evident concentration of light in the central portions of the ring, while, in the case of a hollow envelope, the brightest portion should be at the outer edge. By micrometrical measurement, the distance from the central point to the circumference of the ring was found to be about nine thousand miles. This would give a diameter of eighteen thousand miles, in case the ring was entire. Similar measurements, made on the evening of the 26th of September, indicated a decided increase in the radius of the ring, which was now not less than twelve thousand miles in length. On the same evening I noticed the fact that the luminous envelope did not blend itself into the head portion of the tail, but appeared somewhat to penetrate into this nebulous mass, especially on the upper part, presenting the appearance of about 200° of a spiral. The tail on the 25th was decidedly brighter and better defined on the upper than on the lower portion, while on the evening of the 26th there was a much nearer approach to equality in brightness, especially near the head of the comet. Through the telescope, and near the head, the tail presented the appearance of a hollow nebulous envelope, under the form of a paraboloid of revolution, the edges being brightest and well defined, while there was a manifest fading away of light towards the central region. Through the vast depth of nebulous matter composing this wonderful appendage, the faintest telescopic stars shone with undiminished brightness.

No one can gaze on this gigantic object, in all its misty splendor, without a deep impression that the eye is resting on a mass of nebulous matter precisely such as the nebulous theory of LA PLACE supposes to have been the primordial condition of our sun and all its attendant planets, and from which chaotic condition this beautiful system of revolving worlds has been evoked by the action of a single law.

The only comet which has presented an appearance resembling the one now visible, is the one known as Halley's Comet, as seen by Sir WILLIAM HERSCHEL and others in its return in 1836. There is a marked difference between the two: That while the envelope of Halley's Comet is described as a hemispherical hollow envelope, this shows more the shape of a nebulous ring; there is a faint, misty light, of irregular outline, but not to be mistaken by even a casual observer."

MR. HIND ON THE COMET.—Mr. J. R. HIND, the English astronomer, who has earned the appellation of the "Planet-catcher," is good authority on the Comet. He expresses the opinion that its increase in brightness will go on, in conformity with theory, so that about the epact of maximum brilliancy in October, it will be visible with telescopes in full sunshine. The nucleus is of the appearance of a star of the second magnitude, and the tail, which points nearly due North, although rather faint, is about five degrees in length. The Comet is about 120 millions of miles from the earth, or a little farther from us than the sun, and the diameter of the nucleus is estimated to be rather more than 3,000 miles, or nearly one and a half times larger than the moon. The length of the tail, judging from its appearance, is estimated at 15 millions of miles. The path of the Comet is that of a parabola, and it is conjectured that it will not appear again for some hundreds of years.

DRY GOODS—At the auction sales, to-day, of Dress Goods, Shawls, &c., the attendance was good, the competition vigorous, and the prices obtained for really popular fabrics were, in the main, satisfactory. Privately, during the past week, trade has been only moderately active. Desirable goods have not been freely offered, and prices for such have been generally sustained. Domestic Cottons have been less sought after. Woolens are also rather sparingly inquired for, and even Cassimeres are attracting little attention. The demand for foreign fabrics runs mainly on choice fancy styles, of which the available supply is moderate. These pay fairly. Staple goods are not active, and the tendency of the market is in favor of buyers.

FISH—Dry Cod have been purchased to the extent of 3,600 qtls., at $3 37½@$3 90 ⅌ cwt. Mackerel are in request, including No. 1 at $12 75; No. 2 at $11@$11 25; and No. 3 at $8 75@$9 ⅌ bbl. Herring are moderately inquired for at old figures.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The market is very heavy, with more sellers than buyers, and prices are quoted generally 10c.@15c. ⅌ bbl. lower,—the tendency being downwards. Sales 8,000 bbls.

Canadian is quiet at declining rates; sales 500 bbls., at $5 10@$5 20 for superfine; and $5 45@$6 50 for low to choice extra, ⅌ bbl. Southern is in slack demand at easier prices; sales 1,300 bbls. at $4 60@$5 50 for rejected brands; $5 70@$5 90 for mixed and straight brands, and $6@$8 50 for low fancy to very choice extra brands, ⅌ bbl. Rye Flour continues quiet at $3 25@$4 for fine to superfine, ⅌ bbl. Corn Meal is in moderate demand, mainly at $4 20@$4 25 for Jersey, and $4 85@$4 90 for Brandywine, ⅌ bbl.

FRUIT—Sales, to-day, 1,000 boxes new Layer Raisins, at $2 65; 500 boxes new Bunch Raisins, at $2 30; 1,000 boxes Old Bunch Raisins, at $1 95 for whole boxes; proportionate rates for smaller packages; and 25 cases Citron, on terms not disclosed.

GRAIN—Wheat is depressed, and prices are easier; sales 16,500 bushels, including choice new Canada Club, on terms not ascertained; very good Milwaukee Club, at $1 08; unsound Chicago Spring, at 80c.; fair ordinary to good white Southern, at $1 30@$1 45; fair red do., $1 20, and very choice white Kentucky, at $1 58 ⅌ bushel. Corn is plenty, dull and drooping; sales 38,000 bushels, at 70c.@74c. for unsound to good sound mixed Western, with some unsound reported at 69c.; 83c. for small lots of white Western; 88c. for do. do. Yellow Western; and 92c. for fair Yellow Jersey, ⅌ bushel. Rye continues in request at 79c.@80c. ⅌ bushel. Barley is in demand at, however, less firm prices; sales of 6,000 bushels good State, to arrive, at $1 10, and 1,400 bushels here, at $1 12 ⅌ bushel. Some holders are asking $1 15 for prime, ⅌ bushel. Oats are in slack demand at easier rates. Western at 48c.@51c.; Canada at 48c.@51c.; State at 45c.@49c.; Jersey and Pennsylvania at 40c.@45c.; and Southern at 35c.@40c. ⅌ bushel.

HAY—Sales 800 bales, at 50c.@55c, cash, ⅌ 100 ℔s.

HIDES—The market has been unusually active at about last week's rates. Holders have offered freely, and all offered have been taken readily by the trade. The principal sales have been: 12,000 Oronaco, 23c.@23½c.; 8,000 Rio Grande, 25½c.; 5,000 Central America, 21½c.; 3,000 Porto Cabello, 21½c.; 2,000 Chagres, 21½c.; 6,000 Buenos Ayres, to arrive, 26c.; 2,000 do., here, 26c., all 6 months.

HOPS—Sales have been reported of 450 bales, at 14c.@16c. for New; 7c.@8c. for one year old, and 4c.@5c. for two year old, ⅌ ℔.

LEATHER—Sole has been in better request, at about previous rates. The week's movements have been as follows:

SOLE.

	Hemlock.	Oak.
Receipts, sides	54,500	6,500
Sales, sides	62,650	7,200

LIME—Rockland, 64c. for common, and $1 for Lump, ⅌ bbl.

MOLASSES—Continues inactive at drooping prices. New-Orleans 48c.; Porto Rico, 31c.@40c.; Cuba Muscovado, 26c.@30c.; Clayed Cuba, 23c.@26c. ⅌ gallon, usual terms.

PROVISIONS—Pork is held with more firmness at $16 90@$17 for Mess, and $14 90@$15 for prime, ⅌ bbl., but the demand is not brisk. Sales 350 bbls., chiefly Mess, in lots, at prices within our range. Cut Meats are depressed and languid, at 8½c.@8⅞c. for Hams, and 6½c.@6⅝c. for Shoulders, ⅌ ℔. Bacon continues in light supply and request, at about former quotations, including dry salted middles, at 9c.@10½c.; and smoked sugar-cured hams, at 12c.@14c. ⅌ ℔. Lard is in good demand, at firmer rates. 400 tcs. and bbls. changed hands, in lots, at 11c.@11¼c. for fair to prime old, and 10½c.@10¾c. for new, ⅌ ℔. Beef is dull and heavy; sales 100 bbls., in lots, at $12 50@$14 for repacked Western Mess; $14 50@$15 for extra do.; $11@$11 50 for Country Mess, ⅌ bbl. Small lots of new State Beef Hams brought $17 ⅌ bbl. Butter is in good request, at 14c.@19c for Ohio; 16c.@21c. for common to good State, and 22c.@25c. for prime to choice State, ⅌ ℔. Cheese is in demand, at 5c.@8½c. ⅌ ℔. Other articles are unchanged. Stock in the packing yards of New-York and Brooklyn, 20,547 bbls. Pork, and 1840 tcs. and bbls. Beef, Oct. 1, 1858, against 29,274 bbls. Pork, and 5,129 tcs. and bbls. Beef, Sept. 1, 1858; and 16,225 bbls. Pork, and 5,808 tcs. and bbls. Beef, Oct. 1, 1857.

RICE—Sales since our last, 125 tcs., at $3 25@$3 75 ⅌ 100 ℔s. Messrs. EUGENE O'SULLIVAN & Co. report the stock, on hand, thus:

Spirit of the Trade Circulars.

WILLIAM G. CUTTING'S FLOUR AND GRAIN CIRCULAR.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Oct. 2, 1858.

FLOUR, &c.—The receipts of State and Western Flour have been in excess of the demand, and prices have tended strongly downwards, the decline for the week being 10c.@25c. ⅌ bbl. The inquiry has been mainly for home use, and moderate, purchasers only supplying their immediate wants. The export demand has been limited. Yesterday's transactions were light, and the market heavy. Southern Flour has been less buoyant, especially the common descriptions, and prices have favored buyers. Canadian Flour has been in moderate demand, at reduced prices, closing heavily. Rye Flour has continued dull. Corn Meal has been moderately dealt in, closing firmly.

GRAIN—Wheat of prime quality and in good condition is not abundant. The supply generally is moderate, whilst the demand has been fair for home use, with some inquiry for export, chiefly for inferior parcels. Prices are well supported, especially for the better qualities. Towards the close there has been less activity in the market than was shown in the early part of the week. Yesterday's transactions were quite limited. Rye is inquired for at 80c.@81c. Corn—The supply is heavy, the demand moderate, and prices are easier. Oats continue in good demand, and are firmly held. Barley is scarce and wanted, at improved prices.

FREIGHTS to Liverpool, for Flour, 1s. 3d.@1s. 6d. ⅌ bbl. Grain 3½d.@4½d., in bulk and ship's bags.

M. RADER'S MONTHLY TOBACCO CIRCULAR.

NEW-YORK, Friday, Oct. 1, 1858.

The demand for Leaf Tobacco has taken a turn for the better, and for some sorts, the market is not only firmer but higher; to judge from present appearances, we may look for a fair and steady trade, at the established prices. Fine and good lots of new crop assorted Havana continue in good request, but are rather scarce and high; of medium and ordinary, the receipts have been large, and the heavy sales and exportations notwithstanding, the stocks have been accumulating. Old crop Havana fillers are very scarce; the new crop are not yet suitable for general consumption. About 1,800 bales assorted Havana were exported to Europe. The sales for consumption amount to over 2,000 bales, at 25c.@27c. for new fillers, 32c.@33c. for old, and 30c., 31c., 35c., 37½c., 40c., 42½c., 45c., 48c.@55c. for assorted new; some fine parcels are held at 65c.@75c. Large sales of Cuba Tobacco have also been effected, but prices have undergone no enhancement; the old stocks are ordinary and superannuated, and the few parcels of new are found too green to command much attention. As long as we have supplies of Havana, Yara, and Cienfuegos at moderate prices, they will be preferred by our trade to Cuba, unless offered at sufficiently low rates. The range of prices continues for Baracoa, 12½c.@15c.; Mayari and Gibara, 15c.@17c.; St. Jago, 16c.@18c.; Jiguani, 18c.@20c. In Sagua Leaf but little has been done; the parcels on hand are all old, dried out, and without much flavor; in the fillery grades, a good deal of inside damage. Two parcels were sold at 19c. and 21c. respectively. Some 270 bales of old Yara, clearing the market of this sort, were placed at 27c., and all but 100 bales of the new crop, which were landed, were readily taken at 34c.@36c. Although not quite colored up, the article is well liked; being leafy and good flavor, and will, without doubt, be a leading article with us, if brought on in as good quality and improved by fermentation. Among the lots were two small parcels, which were rather fillery in assortment, but of really superior quality, such as rarely are brought to this market; in usual assortments of one-half and one-half, they would command high prices; 400 bales more arrived, but not landed. The stock of Cienfuegos Tobacco has been greatly reduced, but prices have not been changed from former quotations. In some sorts of domestic Leaf considerable has been done. Kentucky has been less active, and only two tran actions of moment, comprising some 700 hhds., have transpired. Prices of the better grades suitable for our own manufacturers are very firm; for heavy shipping Leaf, the demand is very light, still holders show but little disposition to vary much in prices. We continue to quote: Lugs, 7c.@7½c.; Common, 8c.@8½c.; Good, 9c.@10½c.; Fine, 11c.@12½c.; Selections, 13c.@14c. Quite a lively trade has sprung up for Seed-Leaf, the trade laying in liberal supplies for their Fall stocks, added to which a good demand for export tended to stiffen prices, and breed renewed confidence in the article. Nearly the whole crop of Pennsylvania, and considerable Ohio Seed Leaf has been taken up, and mostly sold in Europe at remunerating prices, and the stocks now on hand are much less than was expected in the face of the reports of such large yield of the preious crop. Connecticut Wrappers are selling in running lots at 18c.@20c.; Ohio, 13c.@16c. In regard to the present crops, the statements in last issue are fully confirmed. The yield in Kentucky will be, if not as large as last year's crop, of more satisfactory quality. The Virginia and Maryland crop will fall much below last year's average in quality and quantity. The crop of Seed Leaf in Connecticut is large, and if favored by the weather for curing will be good. The Ohio Seed Leaf crop will be a mixed one, and in Pennsylvania very little good will be packed. The yield of Florida is larger and finer than last year's, but prices will likely rule high.

HOTELS.

ST. DENIS HOTEL,
ELEVENTH-STREET, CORNER OF BROADWAY.

The subscriber, for many years connected with the Julien Hotel, and lately proprietor thereof, takes this method of informing his friends and the traveling public, that he has, on the 10th of April, A. C., purchased the interest of Mr. D. Julien in the above establishment.

It has, since the consummation of that purchase, been the aim of the subscriber to put his House in complete order, and the same is now thoroughly repaired, repainted, and has been, wherever necessary, refurnished. Water-cisterns, heaters, a separate entrance for ladies, and, in short, whatever was required to bring the Hotel upon an equal footing with the best establishments, has been supplied. The kitchen and lower departments of the house have also received the most untiring attention, and the proprietor feels convinced that he is enabled to provide for his guests in even a better manner than he was at his former hotel, and cheerfully gives the assurance, that at all times his whole attention will be devoted to their comforts, and no pains or expense spared to render his House a quiet residence for families as well as single gentlemen.

DANCING.

A. DODWORTH'S
DANCING ACADEMIES,
No. 806 Broadway, New-York,
No. 137 Montague-place, Brooklyn,
Will commence in New-York on SATURDAY, Sept. 25; in Brooklyn, FRIDAY, Sept. 24.

Mr. DODWORTH would take occasion to say that he has long felt the necessity of introducing a system of instruction for the use of the younger pupils, by which the exercise of dancing would be of more benefit physically, and more useful in the development of graceful movement, than it has been of late years. The facility with which the Polka and similar dances of the present time are acquired, has induced many to neglect those exercises that were formerly indispensable. To that neglect, as one of the causes, may be attributed the appearance of so many round-shouldered young misses of the present generation. They are sent to school, and allowed to stoop over their desks without intermediate exercise, until the growing frame assumes the position in which it has been so long restrained; they are then sent to a teacher of dancing, with the expectation that by learning the Polka, Scottische and a few other dances, all this will be remedied, and that they will at once become graceful women. Surely these things should be better understood. Were children sent to dancing early in life, at intervals during their necessary studies, and the teacher allowed to exercise them in such a manner, and in such dances (in addition to the fashionable ones) as would add grace to the figure, walk, and every movement, something would then be gained consistent with the true object of this valuable accomplishment. Anxious to restore the art to its former usefulness, Mr. Dodworth instructed his classes in that acknowledged graceful study, the "Minuet de la Cœur," and other dances of similar usefulness. The evident success of this course in its effect upon the pupils encouraged him to give more attention to Dancing as connected with Calisthenics; and, during his late tour through Germany, France and Great Britain, he made it his business to call upon the most prominent teachers, and consult with them in regard to the best method of accomplishing those desirable results. He hopes, therefore, to have gained such information as will, in addition to his own experience, enable him to present to his pupils a system that will not only make them dance the Polka, but will improve their health, figure and walk, and consequently have a salutary effect upon every movement in life.

During his European tour of this season, Mr. Dodworth has had favorable opportunities of studying the peculiar dances of Poland and Hungary so popular at the present time in Vienna. Some of these, with other novelties, will be introduced at the earliest moment of the present season.

Circulars may be had at either Academy.

FERRERO'S DANCING ACADEMIES,

No. 59 West 14th-st., New-York:
No. 122 Clinton-st., Brooklyn.

Mme. DUBREUIL FERRERO and E. FERRERO respectfully announce that the above Academies will open on Oct. 9, in New-York, and Oct. 12, in Brooklyn. Gentlemen's evening class on Oct. 18 in New-York, and Oct. 19 in Brooklyn. All dances now in vogue on the Continent will be taught during the season. Strict attention paid to walking, standing, manners, and first rudiments of dancing. Schools and private classes attended. Soirees given as usual. Circulars can be had at the Academies.

THE ART OF DANCING.—NO. 54 EAST THIRTEENTH-ST., NEAR BROADWAY.—Mr. CHARRAUD, assisted by Mrs. A. LANNAY, respectfully acquaints his patrons and the public that his Classes will open on Saturday, Oct. 23. Days, Wednesday and Saturday, at 12 o'clock noon, for children; at 3½, afternoon, for young ladies and masters. Gentlemen's Class on Tuesday and Friday at 8 o'clock, evening—to commence Nov. 1. Soirees as usual. Circulars obtained at the room, or at Mr. CHARRAUD'S residence, No. 148 East 17th-st., near Stuyvesant-Park.

HILLGROVE'S DANCING ACADEMIES—No. 206 Eighth-av., near 21st-st. Days of tuition Mondays and Thursdays; and at No. 527 Houston-st., between Broadway and Bowery, on Tuesdays and Fridays. Afternoon classes are now forming for girls at 3 o'clock. Misses' and masters' from 4 to 6 P. M. Also an evening class for ladies at 7 o'clock; gentlemen's class at 8 P. M. From 9 to 10½ P. M. both classes will practice together. All the fashionable dances to-night. Apply during school hours.

MME. SAUVAGEAU'S DANCING ACADEMY, No. 645 Broadway, one door above Bleecker-st., over Mendes' saloon, is open every day and evening. No teaching by the delusive system of large classes—every pupil being taught by himself or herself. Grand soiree to-night. First monthly hop TUESDAY EVENING next.

BROOKLYN DANCING ACADEMY.—Mr. T. HILLGROVE will open his Academy, corner of Myrtle-av. and Adelphi-st., on WEDNESDAY, Oct. 6. Days of tuition: Wednesdays and Saturdays. Apply as above.

No. 513 Broadway,
St. Nicholas Hotel.

NOTICE.—IT HAVING BEEN RUMORED THAT I have sold out my business at the corner of Broadway and Broome-st., I beg to notify my friends and customers that such report is entirely unfounded. My brother, Fred. M. Peyser, having sold out last Spring his interest in his store corner of Franklin-st. to another party, I am now the only PEYSER doing business on Broadway, and to prevent mistakes, I wish to have it distinctly understood that I am not connected with any other establishment in the City of New-York or elsewhere. My only place of business is at the corner of Broadway and Broome-st., where my friends and customers will at all times find the same choice selection of novelties in my line that have been presented them during the great number of years they have been pleased to patronize me.

NEW BOOKS

FROM THE PRESS OF THE
AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION,
Published Saturday, Sept. 4.

COOPER GENT, and Other Sketches, from "The Country Pastor's Visit to his Poor." 18mo, cloth.

A record of God's gracious dealings with the meanest and humblest of his creatures. Sunday-school teachers and other visitors to the abodes of poverty and misery will be encouraged by it. As a testimony to God's faithfulness in bestowing his blessing upon labors wrought in Christ's name among the children of sorrow and suffering, such a record has permanent value; while it also serves as a sample of the method of approaching, instructing, and winning those who are supposed to be alienated from the common sympathies of life.

Published Saturday, Sept. 11.

LOTTIE'S THOUGHT BOOK. Beautifully illustrated. 12mo, cloth.

MEMOIR OF DAVID TAPPAN STODDARD,

MISSIONARY TO THE NESTORIANS.
BY JOSEPH P. THOMPSON, D. D.,
Pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle Church, New-York.
Illustrated with a beautiful Steel Portrait of Mr. Stoddard, a View of his Birthplace, and several Scene in and around Oroomiah.
1 v l. 12mo. Price $1.

Dr. Thompson was a classmate and intimate friend of Mr. Stoddard. The Memoir is framed almost entirely from material furnished by Mr. Stoddard's correspondence, in which his rare excellence as a Christian was always conspicuous.

The Rev. H. G. O. Dwight, of Constantinople, says of Mr. Stoddard:

"I can say with truth, that it was never my privilege to contemplate a more perfect and complete character. His talents, natural and acquired, were varied and rare, and yet his whole deportment was unassuming and modest; and his affectionate earnestness and glowing piety won all hearts."

Rev. Mr. RHEA, of Oroomiah, says:

"His soul was wrapped up in his work. A stream of love was continually flowing through his heart. He had the happy exultant spirit of McCheyne and Summerfield."

The Rev. Dr. GOODELL, of Constantinople, says:

"He was not only a man to be greatly respected and esteemed, but also to be greatly loved. His intellectual and moral qualities were of the very highest order."

The Rev. RUFUS ANDERSON, D.D., Secretary of the A. B. C. F. M., remarks:

"He was as near an angel as ever I saw."

RELIGIOUS NOTICES.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE LOCAL Preachers' Association, of New-York and Brooklyn, will be held TO-MORROW, Oct. 3, at the Allen-st. M. E. Church. The exercises will be as follows: At 8½ o'clock A. M. a Love-Feast; at 10½ o'clock A. M. preaching by the Rev. H. M. HARMER, of Baltimore; at 2½ P. M. the Secretary's Report will be read and addresses delivered by the Rev. T. T. TASKER, of Philadelphia, the Rev. Mr. CLUET, of Troy, and a member of the Association, and at 7 P. M. addresses, not to exceed 10 minutes each, from Local Preachers from different parts of the country.

SECOND UNITARIAN CHURCH, BROOKLYN.—Evening services will be resumed TO-MORROW, (Sunday,) at the New Chapel, corner of Clinton and Congress sts., when the Communion service will be administered, which is open to all. The Sunday School will be reopened TO-MORROW AFTERNOON, in the basement room—entrance on Verandah-place. The service of Baptism will take place at 3 o'clock, (immediately preceding the meeting of the Sunday School,) in the chapel.

NORTH DUTCH CHURCH—CORNER OF William and Fulton sts. Divine Service EVERY SABBATH, at 10½ A. M., 3½ P. M., and a Prayer-meeting in the EVENING, at 7½ o'clock. Sabbath-School and Bible Classes at 9 A. M. and 2 P. M. TUESDAY EVENING Lecture, and FRIDAY EVENING Prayer-meeting, at 7½ o'clock. A daily Prayer-meeting from 12 to 1 o'clock. All are invited, and seats will be furnished.

DO THE CLERGY OF THE SEVERAL NAMES AND DENOMINATIONS PREACH THE GOSPEL?—Nay, verily! They teach what is opposed to both reason and scripture. The editor of the Herald of the Kingdom takes this ground against them; and, as he has returned from Mississippi, he will speak at 10½ A. M., on Lord's Day, at the Christian Synagogue, No. 187 Bowery. The public are invited to attend, without charge.

NOTICE—AN ADJOURNED MEETING OF LADIES of different denominations of Christians interested in sustaining a daily Union Prayer Meeting, to which they may invite the large class of working women in the lower part of the City, at their mid-day recess, will be held at the Chapel of the Home for the Friendless, No. 29 East 29th-st., on FRIDAY next, Oct. 8, at 3 o'clock P. M.
R. P. PENFIELD, Secretary.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Of the three steamers which have been dispatched by the Ship Canal Company for Nicaragua, two have been reported—the Catherine Maria at Savanah, on the 15th, and the Laura Frances, on the same day, at Norfolk, which place she left on the 17th. The Cass Yrissari, Captain Slocum, which left on the 6th of September, intending to call at Key West, has not been heard from, and some anxiety is felt for her safety. The agent, Mr. Lea, however, thinks she has arrived out safely.

Awards of contracts for constructing the engines and machinery for five of the new steam sloops-of-war have been made by Secretary Toucey. The others have not yet been decided upon. The Fulton Iron Works have the contract for the one to be constructed at the Brooklyn Navy-Yard, and the Morgan Iron Works for the one to be constructed at Pensacola.

A schooner, name not given, is reported, Sept. 20, to have been run ashore at Hog Island Inlet, Va., with all her crew, except the captain and cook, dead from yellow fever. She was from a West India port. Assistance had been sent to her.

A meeting of the American State Committee took place yesterday at the Delavan House in Albany. There was a full attendance. A Committee was appointed to organize and conduct the canvass. A letter was read from Ex-Governor Hunt, strongly indorsing the American candidates, and declaring that the Americans had no alternative, after the action of the Republicans, but to nominate a separate ticket. A large number of prominent Republicans were at the Delavan House during the session of the Committee; but no talk of union occurred inside the meeting. An American ratification meeting was to have been held at Albany last night, but was postponed until next week in consequence of a storm.

The American County Convention met on Thursday evening at the Stuyvesant Institute, in Broadway, and remained in session until 3 o'clock next morning. The proceedings were very disorderly, and the police were twice obliged to interfere to maintain quiet. A crowd of disorderly fellows attempted several times to break into the meeting place and drive out the Convention, but they were each time repulsed after some hard fighting. Contesting delegates appeared from several of the Wards, and after the adjustment of the claims of the respective parties, a Committee, consisting of one from each Ward, was appointed to confer with the Republicans.

Prof. Glaubensklee has furnished the names of several persons whom he saw on board the Austria, which have not heretofore been published. New names come to light from day to day. A perfect list of all the passengers is expected by the Hammonia, now due at this port. Mr. G. bears witness to the entire competency of the officers and crew of the Austria. Some names have been published of persons who, there is good evidence for believing, were not on board.

Manuel Basilio de Cunha Reis was yesterday brought before Judge Betts by a bench warrant issued upon the strength of an indictment found against him in Boston, for being engaged in the Slave-trade. Reis is charged with fitting out the ship Mary E. Smith for the Coast of Africa. His counsel, C. N. Black, moved for his discharge on bail to answer the indictment in Boston. C. H. Hunt, the Assistant United States District-Attorney, opposed the motion, and asked for a warrant for his removal to the Massachusetts District. Reis was remanded to the custody of the Marshal, until his decision to-day.

The examination into the charges of arson, in relation to the destruction of the Quarantine buildings, pending against Ray Tompkins and John C. Thompson, was continued yesterday at the Stapleton Lyceum, Staten Island. Nearly the whole day was occupied with the testimony of Dr. Elisha Harris, formerly chief physician at Quarantine. We publish a full report of it. The examination will be continued to-day.

Richard Horton, charged before Commissioner Bridgham with an assault with a dangerous weapon on the Captain of the ship Isaac Webb, was discharged, the evidence being insufficient. Horton then preferred a complaint against Capt. Bryer for cruel and unusual punishment; a warrant was issued, the Captain was arrested and the tables turned. He was discharged on bail.

Captain De Riviere last evening delivered a portion of a lecture on "Love," before a small audience at Hope Chapel. There was no attempt to arrest him, and it is understood that there are no more warrants to be served.

The inquest on the body of Mrs. Stevens is not yet concluded. Coroner Connery examined one more witness at Bellevue Hospital yesterday, and adjourned the case to Tuesday, when the analysis of the stomach of the deceased by Drs. Doremus and Wood will have been completed, and will be put in evidence before the Jury.

The Board of Aldermen did not succeed in forming a quorum on Friday afternoon. Adjourned to the call of the Clerk.

There was a large attendance at Fashion Course yesterday to witness the third day's races. The two-mile race for $10,000, between Don Juan and Slasher, was won by the latter easily. The other races were good. During the day there was a fight between James Irving and Patrick Mathews, but neither of them received much injury.

The General Markets yesterday were quite active and firm for Cotton. Flour, Wheat and Corn were lower, yet not briskly sought after. Groceries, Provisions and Naval Stores were rather quiet. Hides and Tobacco were freely dealt in. Freights were very dull.

How to Save Lives at Sea.—The terrible catastrophe of the Austria, has very naturally elicited a great number of propositions for the avoidance of similar calamities,—some of which have good sense to recommend them. The communication of a "Passenger," which we publish in another column, gives an intelligible account of the prudent measures taken by the captain of one of the Pacific Mail steamers to prevent the confusion and wild disorder which have almost always ensued whenever a ship has been discovered to be in a dangerous condition. The organization in this case was certainly a very good one, and, in the event of danger, would have been found, we have no doubt, most beneficial. It was very nearly the same plan which we have frequently recommended; but it lacked one very important provision to make it perfect. Unless passengers have a place assigned them in some particular boat, there will always be an overpowering rush to get into the first boat that is lowered away, and cutlasses and pistols will be of very little avail in keeping them away. The only method of preventing disorder will be to give every passenger a ticket, when he pays for his berth, entitling him to a place in a particular life-boat, to which he will be sure to betake himself whenever it becomes necessary to abandon the ship.

The Administration and the Democracy.

Considering the claims which Mr. Buchanan's friends say he has on the public esteem, the treatment he is receiving at the hands of a large part of his own party is something unaccountable. At a "Democratic ratification meeting," held at Albany, on Wednesday, in which the utmost enthusiasm was displayed, and at which many of the leading Democrats of the State spoke, it was declared that the President's "wisdom, patriotism and fidelity to the principles on which he was elected," had justified the most sanguine hopes of the nation. They had "put an end to sectionalism, and had dissipated the plots of the enemies of our Union." They "had reanimated the hopes of democracy, and reinvigorated its energies," and finally, the venerable Chief Magistrate had, of course, like all his predecessors, utterly confounded Great Britain. In short, as far as we can judge from the language of the "National Democracy," there has been nobody since Washington whose claims to the national gratitude and admiration have been so patent and irresistible.

But we regret to say that we do not see in the national conduct many indications of a deep appreciation of the great man who is thus eulogized. Whatever may be the cause, twelve or thirteen States of the Union are utterly opposed to him, and are continually abusing and threatening him; as to the remainder, large numbers of well-informed men in each, persist in supporting a man whom their idol has declared to be utterly unworthy of either fellowship or confidence. Nay, even the Administration organ in this City confesses that the last Democratic Convention at Syracuse was composed in the main of adherents of Douglas, and was, at least, secretly hostile to our venerable President; and yet, we all know that every Democratic Convention in New-York faithfully represents the Democracy of the State; that its decisions bind them, and we know equally well that the Democracy has in its ranks all the honesty and patriotism of the country.

This state of things places us, we confess, upon the horn of a cruel dilemma. Nothing is left us but the dreadful alternative of believing either that Mr. Buchanan is not a worthy person, second only to Washington, or that the Democracy have lost all appreciation of virtue. We all know that it was the Democratic Party which elected the miracle of wisdom and goodness who now fills the Presidential chair; and, if the Democracy can be mistaken on a matter of such moment, and can be forced into repudiating its best-beloved in this summary manner, to which quarter of the political horizon shall we look for light? If the chosen people run off in this way after the golden calf, what is to become of the nation at large?

To relieve well-meaning people from the state of perplexity in which they are placed by the recent vagaries of Democracy, and enable them to reconcile, if possible, the aberrations of the Douglasites with Mr. Buchanan's unfaltering goodness and purity, we can devise nothing better than the formation of a commission of inquiry to judge between the contending parties. Where the vast majority of the population of the Northern States of this Union, and a considerable portion of the white citizens of the South, say one-third, and Mr. James Buchanan, counsellor at-law, of Lancaster, Pa., and the New-York Daily News says another, one or other is clearly in the wrong. It may be readily imagined how puzzled the civilized world must be to know which to believe. Why keep the nations of the earth in this painful state of suspense? Why not relieve their doubts at least by citing a few of innumerable instances, in which a solitary counsellor, and some few thousand of his defendants were surely right, and the rest of the nation incurably wrong. Nothing can be easier at all events than to take evidence as to those various questions of personal veracity which have unfortunately arisen between the contending parties. The decision of so tremendous an issue is certainly worth some trouble, and until it is taken, we greatly fear that mankind, obtuse and dogged as usual, will take the side of the majority.

"The Defence has the Close."

The public have not yet heard from Mr. Assistant District-Attorney Sedgwick in reference to his part in the late extraordinary scene in the Court of General Sessions. The farce of punishing Mr. Mulligan was enacted with as much solemnity as an exhibition of the ancient Augurs, and in just about the same sincerity and good faith. We are told that two of these worthies could not look each other in the face without laughing. Now, Judge Russell, Mr. Sickles, and Mr. Mulligan himself, are all Augurs—high-priests of the great Democratic Party, and can divine the future from the crop of a Shanghae chicken or the flight of the American eagle, as well as even the acutest "Roman of them all." If this were not so, we cannot comprehend how it was that Judge Russell went into Court with such an elaborate little discourse, all written out for the reporters, so that it might be published in the same words in all the newspapers. Nor can we understand how it was that Mr. Mulligan should have had the precise amount of this fine rolled up in his waistcoat pocket, and tip it to the Clerk without counting. Now, was it prearranged that Mr. Sedgwick also should let the matter slide? After the flaming harangue of Mr. Sickles, even Judge Russell thought, or seemed to think, that the State ought to be heard, at least in a mild and modest way. Mr. Sedgwick had the opportunity given him by the Judge, in whose discretion all such matters rest. The Judge wanted to hear if anything could be said to take away from the effect of Mr. Sickles' speech on the bystanders and the Court. But not a word from Mr. Sedgwick, except the absurd one that the "defence had the close." Why, when the Court had called upon him to speak, did he volunteer to be silent? "Morality dumb, too!"

We are mere laymen, and are sensible that the law is wrapped up in subtleties and mysteries which few of its professors even are able to penetrate. Therefore it is that we should be obliged to any one who would explain to us how it happens that after the plea of Guilty, Mr. Mulligan should be permitted to have his cause tried on ex-parte affidavits, to have counsel heard in his behalf, and to have the "close" yielded to him by the Assistant District-Attorney, as a privilege of the "defence." There was nothing and nobody to defend. The prisoner was a convict on his own confession; and yet, after conviction, he was permitted to go through all the formalities of a trial by the Court, on terms more favorable than are ordinarily conceded on the trial by Jury to those whom the law presumes to be innocent. If Mr. Mulligan had claimed to be innocent, not one word of all the rigmarole affidavits which his counsel introduced could have been received in evidence. Supposing them to be all true, they constituted no sort of defence or legal justification of the aggravated assault of which Mr. Mulligan had been guilty. But, if the facts stated in them were relevant, then there was not a scintilla of proof before the Court that they were true. If true, it is entirely clear that they were in no respect relevant.

After all, perhaps, the most offensive part of this affair is the parade with which it was transacted. The culprit was made to appear as a martyr. If Mr. Mulligan had merely been arraigned for an assault and battery, had pleaded guilty, and been fined $250, in a quiet way, it would have escaped notice in the thousand and one items of a daily newspaper. We are told, indeed, in the article "assault," in Appleton's New Cyclopædia, that a common battery with fists or sticks and stones, is esteemed a light offence, "so that a man who batters his wife within an ace of her life, with a poker, or bites off an opponent's nose or ear, is only deficient in polite and orderly conduct, and is either fined or sent to prison for a few weeks." Now whether Judge Russell derived his law from the Cyclopædia, or the Cyclopædia from Judge Russell, we cannot say, but we are surprised that such notions with respect to the legal use of the poker in conjugal difficulties should obtain in the world of letters. True it is that the grave Dr. Johnson assaulted Osborne, the bookseller, by knocking him down with one of his own folios; and Goldsmith undertook to cane Evans, the publisher, for a libel in his newspaper. Goldsmith came off second best from the affray, and was glad to compromise it by paying fifty pounds to a charity. Poets and philosophers have their little frailties like pugilists. With such eminent examples before him, and such encyclopædiac instruction, it is not perhaps to be wondered at that Mulligan should make light of pummeling the member of a San Francisco Vigilance Committee. The marvel is that the Judge, and the Attorney of the People should have united with his own counsel to invest his conviction for a vulgar assault with the heroic dignity of a martyrdom.

Railroad Pacification—The two great railways of this State, after a most unprofitable season of hostilities, have entered into a treaty offensive and defensive, and peace again prevails. They have returned to the former system of high prices, and agreed not to underbid each other. In some unimportant respects economy has been resolved upon. Less advertising is to be done; there are to be no "posters," except such as are framed and hung in hotels, &c., and dead-heads are to be still further proscribed. A little spigot-saving may be thus effected, but the old stream of waste will still flow in full volume from the bung. Nothing has been done to prevent Directors from speculating in the property of stockholders; nothing to put an end to corrupt contracts; nothing to prohibit the payment of dividends out of moneys borrowed either from outside capitalists or from funds which should be applied to keep the roads in order. In short, there has been no real reform, only the semblance thereof, designed to cajole and delude the holders of stock. Meantime, Presidents, Directors and other officials will continue to grow rich. Share-owners may or may not receive large dividends for a time. Their interests are subordinate. They have placed them in the keeping of a few men, whose business it is to swell their private fortunes.

The stupendous game played for the last twenty years, of trust and folly on the one hand, of plunder and knavery on the other, is drawing to its close. Not much longer will men of limited means invest their small accumulations in railway stocks, for Directors to gamble with in Wall-street. There has been enough of loss to serve as a warning of the most emphatic kind. In future, if railroads are to be built, the money must be paid in large amounts by men whose interest will prompt a vigilant oversight, and whose business sagacity will foil any ordinary cheating skill. But, while matters continue as they have been, it is natural and inevitable for the managing few to fleece the unsophisticated many.

"Monuments of Folly."—We publish a communication this morning from a real estate prophet who appears to be slightly insane on the subject of the up-town movement. He predicts that within five years, the magnificent new banking-houses recently erected down town, in and above Wall-street, will be looked upon as "monuments of folly," and that all the large business of the City will be carried on above Chambers-street. Beyond a question, the business of New-York must of necessity expand up town, for it cannot spread in any other direction; beginning at the lowest point down town, it could not go further that way. But, though the jobbing and shop-keeping interests must of necessity go up, the shipping and banking business and the foreign houses will continue for at least half a century to remain in their present locations. The Park will be, for the next fifty years, the commercial centre of this Metropolis, and Wall-street will maintain its present character. Instead of the prophesied change taking place, when the splendid banking-houses which have recently been finished, will be pronounced monuments of folly, they will have a good many similar structures to keep them in countenance. Every day the lower part of the City is changing its character, and the offices of incorporated companies, banks, and insurance offices are taking the place of warehouses, jobbers' and importers' stores, hotels, etc. A whole row of wholesale stores in Pine-street is now in process of being replaced by a block of elegant marble buildings for offices, and the entire business connected with the hatting interests has this season been transferred from Water-street above Maiden-lane, to Broadway below Wall-street. Business must continue to extend up town, and the further it goes the more valuable and crowded will become the districts down town.

Pluck.—The Signal, Gerrit Smith's Buffalo organ, cries out valiantly to "call out your candidates!" This challenge is addressed to the Republican, Democratic and American parties. Mr. Smith has voluntarily taken the stump. He is a fine speaker and personable gentleman. His friends are proud of his oratorical powers and his good looks. They have reason to be. It is, therefore, very natural that they should call for an exhibition of candidates; and if political prizes were awarded on the same principle which rules in Agricultural Fairs, Mr. S. could hardly fail to win a medal, if not to carry off the first premium. But the Signal will hardly be gratified. Its champion must discharge his arrows from a distance. The other three gentlemen in the field can hardly be expected to take up the gauntlet thrown down in his behalf. His friends will have the privilege of believing, if they please, that it is fear which keeps competitors away from the sound of their candidate's voice. Yet it is felt that Gerrit Smith's movement is, in the present condition of parties, far from contemptible. There are not a few sagacious observers who predict for him a vote of 30,000. Half that number is a force not to be overlooked by those who undertake to predict results in November.

Administration War on Douglas.—The conflict between President Buchanan and Senator Douglas is daily assuming more and more the character of embittered personal hate. Especially is this the case on the side of the Administration. Our special Washington dispatch this morning announces the approaching removal of Mr. Faran, the Cincinnati Postmaster, for the crime of defending Douglas. It is but a short time since Mr. Buchanan appointed Faran, whom he is now about to sacrifice.

The President is not able to control his party in this war, a considerable portion of which, at the South as well as at the North, openly sympathizes with the Illinois Chieftain in his audacious revolt. But the office-holders can be reached; and it has been given out that every one of these who ventures to say a word in favor of Douglas shall suffer speedy decapitation. Mr. Buchanan must long ago have seen the futility of attempting to make the Lecompton Bill a party test. When even the Slave States refuse to stand by him on that issue the case is manifestly hopeless. Personal animosity must therefore be the motive in the war waged upon Douglas' friends.

A Union Opposition Ticket.—The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser publishes the following extract from a Chautauque county letter:

> "The people of all parties, especially those of the Republican and American organizations, are panting for a Union State Ticket, to be made up by a People's State Convention, and constituted of Burrows and Benton, and two good and true Republicans. This desire is so generally entertained and expressed throughout our country, that an inspiration seems to have seized upon all that a movement to secure the result is on foot already."

The bondage to Conventions and Party managers is wonderful. If the "people of all parties" in Chautauque, or elsewhere, are "panting" to vote for Burrows and Benton, with Republicans for the other two offices, let them get tickets printed, precisely such as they want, and vote them. That is all. There is, fortunately, no statute against a man's voting as he pleases, and printing is a cheap process. It is about time that intelligent citizens should be independent enough to cast such ballots as they prefer, without slavish regard for Conventions or leaders.

Trade with England since the Panic.

According to the official accounts of the Board of Trade at London, the computed real value of all the foreign and colonial merchandise imported into the United Kingdom during the six months ended June 30, 1858, was £69,677,151, of which sum £47,193,604 represents the imports of the three months ended the same day. The imports from the United States during the six months amounted to £19,306,354, exceeding those from all the colonies and possessions of the British crown by £6,076,088, and being nearly three times the value of the imports from France during the same period, that being the country with which, next to the United States, there was the largest amount of trade. The imports of the second quarter amounted to £13,931,516, showing that the progress towards that flourishing condition of trade which existed before the monetary crisis of last Autumn has been very great. The half year's imports from other American countries were as follows: Peru, £2,529,621; Brazil, £1,058,548; Chili, £837,495; British Guiana, £815,042; British North America, £623,115; Buenos Ayres, £248,523; Uruguay, £184,890; New-Granada, £136,707; Mexico, £111,407; British Honduras, £102,590; Venezuela, £25,655; Equador, £18,869; Central America, £8,174; Patagonia, £4,112. The declared value of the British manufactures and produce capital during the half-year to all parts of the world was £53,467,804, being less by £7,368,577 than in the corresponding period of last year. The improving condition of trade is shown, however, by the fact that the exports of the second quarter amounted to £29,957,514, being only £2,041,374 less than in the same quarter of 1857. The exports to India were no less than £8,684,434, and these alone exceeded those of the corresponding six months last year to any one country The exports to the United States come next, being in value £5,939,924, and those of the quarter ended June 30, £3,280,211; while the amounts for the corresponding periods of 1857 were respectively £11,722,952 and £5,441,232. The exports of the half-year to other parts of America were as follows: Brazil, £1,792,071; British North America, £1,446,161; Chili, £602,956; Peru, £574,244; Buenos Ayres, £447,871; Uruguay, £266,366; Mexico, £256,090; New Granada, £233,450; British Guiana, £219,139; Central America, £190,889; Venezuela, £116,280; British Honduras, £73,507; Equador, £14,675.

Both the import and export trades of England increased during the month of July, as compared with previous months of the present year. The enormous quantity of 478,074 qrs. of Wheat was imported, of which the United States supplied 162,121 qrs., or more than one-third of the whole. During the seven months ended July 31, England has imported from the United States 392,281 qrs. of Wheat and 1,338,792 bbls. of Flour, besides Indian Corn and Meal. Of the total importation of Flour in July, amounting to 463,731 cwts., the United States furnished 284,216 cwts., or considerably more than half. The imports of Cotton during the month and seven months ended July 31, compared with the corresponding periods of last year, and the quantity received from each source of supply, were as follows:

	Month ended July 31.		Seven months ended July 31.
	1857.	1858.	1857.	1858.
	Cwts.	Cwts.	Cwts	Cwts.

The declared value of all the British manufactures and produce exported during the month was £10,993,997, being £1,807,535 less than the corresponding period of last year; but, £1,025,771 more than in the same month of 1856. The exports to the United States for these periods were respectively as follows:

	Month ended July 31.
	1856.	1857.	1858.
Beer and ale	£7,376	£8,476	£6,702

Worsted	68,676	118,548	95,158

Coals, pig and cast iron, salt, seed oil and woolens, it will be seen, were exported to this country in even larger amounts than at the corresponding period of 1857. The imports of bullion and specie into England continue to be in excess of the exports, £2,335,411 having been imported during July, against £1,841,611 exported; or, during the seven months, £18,506,331 against £12,582,431. The imports of gold and silver from the United States amounted to £216,279 for the month, and £3,138,067 for the seven months; the exports to this side being nil in respect of July, and £135,382, all in gold, for the longer period. The greater part of the gold that was exported in July went to France, and the seven months' shipments of the precious metals to that country were more than half the entire exportation; and those to India and China (principally in silver) were more than half the remainder.

The shipping accounts indicate a considerable degree of activity in the mercantile marine, tonnage to the amount of 943,606 tons having entered British ports during the month, against 937,937 tons in the corresponding period of last year, and 938,392 in that of 1856. The vessels under the flag of the United States present an aggregate of 137,502 tons, an amount exceeded by that of no other foreign country, and nearly double that of the vessels under the Norwegian flag, which approaches nearest to it. In July, 1857, the tonnage of the vessels which entered British ports under the flag of the United States was 116,402 tons. The aggregate tonnage of all the vessels which cleared from British ports during the month, was 1,036,990 tons, being more by 41,444 tons than in the corresponding period of last year. Of this total, 152,652 tons represents American vessels, being an increase of 48,743 tons upon the clearances of the same in July, 1857. The greatest amount of tonnage which arrived from any one country, irrespective of flag, was 169,157 tons, representing the arrivals from the British possessions in North America; next to this comes those from the United States, 131,098 tons; and then Russia, 107,664 tons. The largest amount of tonnage which cleared outwards to any one country was 140,031 tons, representing the departures for the United States; the next being the departures for France, 118,460 tons. If the comparison is extended to the seven months, the proportions will be found to differ, the arrivals from the United States giving the largest amount of tonnage inwards, being 821,629 tons; and the departures for French ports the largest amount outwards, 768,670 tons; the next to this being the shipping which cleared for American ports, the tonnage of which amounted to 720,616 tons. Compared with the first seven months of 1857, there has been an increase in the arrivals at British ports from Russia, Sweden, Norway, Belgium, France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Egypt, India, Central America and the West Indies, and in the departures for the same countries, except Sweden, Norway, France, Portugal and India, and also to Prussia and Holland.

Richard A. Locke and the Clergymen.

There are contingencies in which desperadoes desire the presence of the Clergy, and to this rule the Quarantine burners offer no exception. At the trial of Gen. Tallmadge, on Wednesday last, before the Board of Police Commissioners, Richard Adams Locke was examined as a witness. He testified positively to having seen two ministers of the gospel present in the crowd which destroyed the Quarantine on the 1st of September. The reverend gentlemen, he swore, looked on with "complacency and satisfaction," though they did not participate in any more active way. One of the two named by Mr. Locke was the Rev. Dr. Winslow. That gentleman publishes a card in this morning's Times, in which he not only denies having been present, but states that he was not on Staten Island at the time, and had no knowledge that the outrage was intended. We have no doubt the other clergyman can also establish an alibi. Mr. Locke and his associates in devastation evidently feel the want of countenance from respectable persons. A few clergymen were needed to bless the undertaking and sanctify the arson. Mr. Locke has in great perfection the gift of seeing what does not exist. Sometimes his fictions are lunar, at other times terrestrial. The latter he feels impelled to swear to. But he should take care not to implicate worthy men in State Prison offences. The exigencies of his case, great as they were, could not justify such atrocious slander as Dr. Winslow has felt himself called to repel.

Amusements.

Academy of Music.—There will be a grand matinée at this house to-day, commencing at 2 o'clock. The bill is one of the fullest ever given at an entertainment of this kind, and includes the whole of Rossini's "William Tell," and a ballet entertainment by the members of the Ronzani troupe.

Burton's Theatre.—The admirers of Mme. Colson have their last opportunity of paying homage to her talent to-night, when Verdi's "Traviata" will be given. The liberty duet from the "Puritani" will also be sung by Signor Amodio and Mons. Junca.

AMERICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The American County Convention met at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, at the Stuyvesant Institute, Broadway. There was a full delegation—three from each Ward.

Two Chairmen—Mr. Deane and Mr. Barney—were nominated for temporary Chairman by their respective partisans. Each was declared elected, and each essayed to preside. A terrible scene of confusion ensued, which was heightened by an attempt being made by a number of outsiders to force themselves into the Convention. Delegates headed by Police Justice Quackenbush defended the windows and doors, and after a pretty fierce battle compelled the assailants to retire. The police arrived soon afterwards, and partially cleared the passage ways.

At length, Gilbert C. Deane, of the Thirteenth Ward, was selected as temporary chairman, and N. S. Husted, of Tenth Ward, Secretary.

A Committee of five on credentials was appointed.

Contesting delegations appeared from the Second, Eighth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Wards.

The claims of each were considered at great length—and the discussions arising therefrom were quite animated.

The principal contest was about the little Second Ward, from which two sets of Delegates appeared: one headed by Hiram Corwin and the other by Alvah W. Lockwood. Statements and counter-statements were made in each behalf, and a discussion, disorderly and exciting ensued, during which Mr. McIntyre of the Second Ward, told Mr. Deane of the Thirteenth Ward that he "lied."

At 1½ o'clock in the morning, a vote was taken and it was decided by a vote of 31 to 29 that the Lockwood delegation be admitted.

The announcement of this result created a great commotion among the outsiders, who extemporized a private, though not serious fight in the passage-ways.

A long debate then arose as to whether the Lewis or Wagner Delegation should be admitted from the Fourteenth Ward. A vote was at length taken in favor of the Wagner Delegates.

The contestants from the other Wards here announced that they themselves had adjusted in the differences, and the Convention was, therefore, relieved of further interference in the matter.

A motion that the temporary be declared the permanent officers of the Convention, was here put and carried by a small majority and amid considerable confusion.

At this stage of the proceedings, (2½ A. M.,) Rufus L. Andrews, of the Twenty-first Ward, presented a communication from the Republican County Convention, tendering a proposition for fusion, and stating that a Committee of one from each Ward on behalf of the Republican Party had been appointed to confer.

A motion to appoint a similar Committee was put and carried with but little opposition.

The following Committee of Conference was thereupon appointed:

First Ward—Wm. Stokely.
Second Ward—A. W. Lockwood.
Third Ward—E. Meredith.
Fourth Ward—Augustus P. Green.
Fifth Ward—George F. Randolph.
Sixth Ward—Daniel P. Hancock.
Seventh Ward—S. E. Knapp.
Eighth Ward—John Forshay.
Ninth Ward—Wm. E. Beardsley.
Tenth Ward—Nathaniel S. Husted.
Eleventh Ward—R. G. Hunt.
Twelfth Ward—J. L. Rycker.
Thirteenth Ward—G. C. Dean.
Fourteenth Ward—Louis N. Glover.
Fifteenth Ward—R. Barlow.
Sixteenth Ward—John Quackenbosh.
Seventeenth Ward—Fred. C. Van Wagner.
Eighteenth Ward—C. H. Whitaker.
Nineteenth Ward—C. L. Frost.
Twentieth Ward—Josiah K. Mack.
Twenty-first Ward—Rufus F. Andrews.
Twenty-second Ward—Augustus S. Wood.

The Convention then adjourned to meet at the call of the Chair, and immediately thereafter the Committee of Conference assembled, and organized by appointing Mr. Stokely, of the First Ward, Chairman, and then (about 3 o'clock, A. M.) adjourned to meet at the Westchester House on Monday evening.

Mr. Gilbert C. Deane, while passing from the meeting-room, was assailed by a gang of half-drunken fellows, with such violence that his friends prevailed upon him to make his exit through a rear passage. The Police were called, and the ringleader of the assailants was arrested.

Third Congressional District.—Another meeting of the Republican Congressional Convention for the Third District (embracing the First, Second, Third, Fifth and Eighth Wards) was held last evening at Laird's Fifth Ward Hotel, corner of West Broadway and Franklin-street. It adjourned immediately after organizing, to await further reports from the Committee appointed to confer with the Americans. The next meeting will be held at such time as the Chairman shall name, the call to be published in the Times and Tribune.

Political Items.

NEW-YORK.

The Hon. James Wadsworth, ex-Senator, is the Democratic candidate for Sheriff in Erie County, in this State. He recently resigned the Senatorship in consequence of personal engagements, which required his presence at home.

Mr. Joseph C. Y. Paige has been elected Chamberlain of the city of Albany. Mr. Van Alstyne remains the Deputy.

NEW-JERSEY.

There is a split among the Democracy of the Third Congressional District in New Jersey. The nominating Convention was held at Somerville on Thursday. An Adrain and Anti-Adrain delegation from North Brunswick contested seats. The Adrain party being refused admission, withdrew, and organized an Anti-Lecompton Convention, which put Mr. Adrain in nomination, appointed a Committee to assure that gentleman of the fact, and heard a speech from him, in which he said:

> "The principle of popular sovereignty he had advocated and endeavored to carry out to the best of his ability while in Congress, and had the President adhered to it, and left the settlement of the Lecompton question where it belonged, the difficulties which now distract the party would not have arisen. But the President adopted a different policy, and to that policy he (Mr. Adrain) had offered a steady opposition—standing up for the great principle of self-government. He had been told that he should ask forgiveness of the party for his course, but he had to say that he did not regret it in the slightest degree; he had stood by the pledges he had made, and will any one say that he did wrong? [Cries of "No!"]

The other Convention nominated Wm. Patterson.

The Opposition are having strong meetings in Newark.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The various Congressional Conventions about to take place, says the Boston Traveller, are exciting considerable interest. In the First District, the Republican Convention which meets at Hyannis, on Friday, Oct. 1, will, it is thought, nominate the Hon. T. D. Eliot, of New-Bedford; in the Second District, on the Republican side, there was no serious opposition to the renomination of Mr. Buffinton. In the Sixth District there was a warm competition for the American-Republican nominations, between Messrs. Timothy Davis, of Gloucester, (the present member,) C. W. Upham, of Salem; J. B. Alley, of Lynn; Geo. L. Colby, (editor of the Newburyport Herald,) and Ebenezer Stone, of Newburyport.

INDIANA.

The general election in Indiana will be held on the 12th inst. At this election members of Congress, a Secretary, Treasurer, and Auditor of State; four Judges—all the Bench—of the Supreme Court; members of the Legislature, and various county officers are to be chosen.

The Cincinnati Gazette says:

> "Schuyler Colfax, Republican, is a candidate for reëlection in the Ninth District of Indiana, and will be returned by an increased majority. Mr. Colfax is one of the most promising young men of our country. Of the most exemplary morals, of untiring energy and industry, and in the possession of talents of a high order, he is regarded as among the most useful members of the present Congress."

MISSISSIPPI.

Gov. Foote raps the President, in a speech delivered in Bolivar County:

> "Had Mr. Buchanan remained where he was in September last, in regard to the submission of the Lecompton Constitution to the people of Kansas, before the new State should be admitted into the Union; had he even remained silent as to this matter, and contented himself, as he should have done, with awaiting the action of Congress on this subject, and then either approving or vetoing such legislation as Congress might adopt, as he might find to be right and expedient, he would have been able to keep his party united during the whole of the last Congressional session; no issue between himself and Mr. Douglas would necessarily have arisen; the Democratic Party, with unbroken strength, in the Free States of the North, upon the basis of popular sovereignty, would have been able to meet and overthrow the Black Republican faction everywhere; the victories achieved last Autumn over this pestilent faction would have been renewed and multiplied; and before the present moment there would have been an end of Free-Soilism and Black Republicanism forever. By pursuing a contrary course; by yielding to the silly and indecent menaces of the most shallow, self-sufficient, and really impotent demagogues that the South has ever known—men who had only to be met with boldness and energy to be overthrown and put down—he had effectually broken up and destroyed his party in the North, throwing upon its leaders, his special supporters, the necessity of opposing a great principle of popular liberty, the negation or enfeeblement of which in the public mind, would be inevitably fatal to our system of civic freedom, and had thus presented an opportunity to the Black Republican faction of strengthening themselves by becoming the ostensible champions of a principle which has been always heretofore recognized as the most essential feature of the Democratic creed."

CORWIN ON DOUGLAS.

Governor Corwin is making a thorough canvass of his District. In one of his late speeches he spoke of Mr. Douglas as follows:

> "I have said that I honor Douglas; I honor any man in a party who looks the head of that party in his face, and defies his power. But why did not Douglas wholly emancipate himself, instead of putting the fetters off one hand, and allowing the handcuffs to dangle from the other?"

City Items.

The weather yesterday was uncomfortably warm for the season. October came in like a lamb. The sun shone, the ladies went shopping numerously, and the streets were full of people. Suddenly, and without much warning, at 12 o'clock, large drops of rain began to fall, and so rapidly and so close together they came down that many were wet through before they could get under cover. The shower did not last long, but an immense amount of water fell. It was quite dark for a few moments, but suddenly the sun came out again and so did the people, and the streets looked as lively though not so dry as before.

Resolutions have been passed by the Vestry of St. Matthews Church, Bedford, against any change in the Constitution of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of New-York, impairing the ancient rights of the laity, and especially opposing the proposed amendment requiring lay delegates to be communicants.

James Taylor, keeper of the City Hall for the last fifteen or twenty years, was yesterday removed from office by Edward Cooper, Street Commissioner and a Mr. Roome from the Ninth Ward, appointed in his place.

Dr. Boynton gave his seventh lecture on Geology, last night, to a large audience, at the Cooper Institute.

Capt. de Riviere on "Love."—A notice placarded in front of Hope Chapel, yesterday, announced that Capt. de Riviere would, the same evening, "clear of all warrants," deliver a lecture there, on "Love." Shortly after 7½ P. M., the hour at which the lecture was to commence, Capt. de Riviere placed himself behind the desk, and began to read his views of the tender passion. The audience was quite small—not more than fifty persons—and the lecture, though well delivered, concerned a subject so trite, that it was not listened to with marked attention. Those who attended the lecture had, in fact, come for the purpose of seeing Capt. de Riviere, and not so much to hear him. Their curiosity gratified, a few began to leave, while the lecturer was still far from the conclusion of his discourse. The sound of martial music in Broadway, which accompanied the march of the fire companies on their way to meet the companies returning from Albany, added to the impatience of the younger portion of the audience, and at length, a little before 8½ o'clock, Captain de Riviere said the lecture would be finished next week, and the audience retired. Before commencing his lecture, the Captain made a personal explanation. He said a warrant had been out for his arrest for some three weeks, issued at the instance of a gentleman with whom he had a difficulty. During that time he had been in the City, had been twice in Court and several times to the Police Head-quarters, in Broome-street, but no attempt was made to arrest him until Wednesday evening, when he was on his way to fulfill an arrangement with the public. He left it to the community to judge if this was fair.

Great Fire at Jacmel, Hayti—Loss over a Million and a Quarter.—The Feuille du Commerce, of the 21st ult., states that on the 15th of August, a destructive fire occurred at Jacmel. "The most beautiful part of the city," says the account, "the principal seat of commerce, is a heap of ruins. The fire was discovered between 8 and 9 o'clock at night, and in spite of the efforts of the citizens to arrest its progress, in three hours seventeen buildings, with the Custom-House and offices of the port, were destroyed."

The loss occasioned by this fire is estimated at $3,840,000, (Haytian money,) or about $1,382,500 Federal currency.

The "Regulars" and Fernando Wood.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

An article in the Times of Friday purports to give the substance of a speech made by Mr. Wood at the meeting of the General Committee of Regulars on Tuesday night last. I was present and heard his remarks, and can assure you that your informant has been deceived or is deceiving you. Mr. Wood made no personal attack upon I. V. Fowler and Wm. D. Kennedy, nor was the name of John Kelly mentioned, nor was there the most indirect allusion to them. Mr. Wood did not declare that he had left Tammany Hall forever, or that he had left it at all; and, in brief, almost every statement of your correspondent is incorrect. Mr. Barr did not oppose Mr. Genet for chairman, and was not in the least opposed to Mr. Wood's becoming a member of the Committee.

I am authorized to say that all the recent statements in the Times as to Mr. Wood and Mr. Dickinson, and as to the objects of Mr. Wood's late visit to Washington, and as to the foreign mission, and as to the Nebraska Governorship, and many other wise prognostications as to his future movements, are as foundationless as the folly of such stuff is apparent to the public. A REGULAR.

The Lowber Judgment.

To the Editor of the New-York Times.

The Sheriff has advertised the pictures in the Governor's room,—the benches, carpets and furniture of the several Court-rooms in this City for sale to satisfy the execution of Mr. Lowber, upon his judgment.

It seems that the Comptroller has no funds to pay the claim of Lowber, or will not pay it, if he has. What ought to be done? Should the citizens stand idly by and permit the public property to be sacrificed at a Sheriff's sale?

If I remember aright, the Common Council a year ago directed their counsel, Mr. Busteed, to take the necessary legal proceedings to compel the Comptroller to draw his warrant upon the Chamberlain to pay. Would it not be better to attend to this than to be running around with de Riviere and quarreling with Police Justices. A TAX PAYER.

Monmouth County Agricultural Fair.

Correspondence of the New-York Times:

Freehold, N. J., Wednesday, Sept. 30, 1858.

Yesterday and to day the Monmouth County Agricultural Society held their first Fair as an incorporated society, with results exceeding their highest expectations. In every department of agriculture the exhibition was worthy of one of the richest counties in the State. Vegetables of every variety; potatoes, in kind, quantity, variety and quality, exceeding, probably, any similar show ever before attempted; grain, fruit, fat cattle, fine Devons, Durhams, splendid sheep, superior hogs, choice poultry, and everything of note connected with successful farming won admiration and premiums. Though shortened in fruit the display was good. The grapes were superior. In the ladies' department, needlework of every variety. In the mechanical department, a fair supply, and a large and choice collection of butter, with bread, and pastry, filled a large space. The horses exhibited surpassed anything noticed this Fall at Fairs in the State. The collection of people was very large, from all parts of the county. Other parts of the State, as well as your City, and some of your adjoining counties in New-York were represented. The grounds, with the permanent buildings and arrangements for the care of horses and stock, are pronounced to be the best of any County Society in this part of the United States. It is desired to place the Monmouth County Agricultural Society in the place now fairly won—in rank with No. 1 Agricultural Societies. Yours, &c. A.

Putnam County Agricultural Fair.—The annual Fair of the Putnam County Agricultural Society was held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the present week. The display of fine cattle and vegetables was large and creditable to the county. The annual address was delivered by Alderman Spooner, Esq., of Brooklyn, before a very large Assemblage. At the conclusion, a vote of thanks was unanimously passed, with a request for a copy of the address for publication.

Sixteenth Anniversary of the Sons of Temperance.—This anniversary was celebrated last Wednesday evening by Harmony Division No. 5, at its hall No. 281 Grand-street. The room was crowded. Mr. Wm. H. Armstrong presided, and "fifteen minutes' addresses" were made by the Rev. Theo. L. Cutler, Henry A. Guild, and Messrs. Beale, Heighway, Booth and Snow. Messrs. Macdonough and Cooke sang, to the very evident satisfaction of the audience. Five persons signed the pledge. It appears that quite a revival has taken place in this Division, and large accessions to its membership have been received since the beginning of the year. The Order generally has revived greatly, it is said, in the past year or two; particularly in Massachusetts, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, California, Canada West, New-Brunswick and Nova Scotia, there has been a great increase of membership. In Canada West there were on the 1st of January 338 Divisions, and 10,600 members, of whom 5,311 had joined the order during the year preceding.

Commissioners of Health.—The Health Commissioners met in the Mayor's office, on Friday, at noon. Mayor Tiemann was present, together with the Health Officer, Dr. Thompson, and Drs. Muller and Rockwell.

The schooner Palmetto, from Orizaba, was permitted to come to the City on Monday to unload.

The brig Dunkirk, from Trinidad, arrived 20th ult., was ordered discharged at Quarantine.

Permission was asked to ship 100 bales cotton per the steamer Star of the South, from Savannah, on board a propeller for Boston. Laid on the table till to-morrow.

The bark Clarisso, from Trinidad, cargo discharged on the 28th of September at Quarantine, was permitted to proceed to the City six days after discharging.

The Board then adjourned.

Firemen's Parade.—Adriatic Engine Company, No. 31, arrived last evening from the grand exhibition at Albany, and was received at the landing place by America's Engine Company, No. 6, who, with other fire organizations, escorted them through many of the principal streets to the house of No. 6, where a collation was partaken of and kindly sentiments interchanged.

Attempted Incendiarism.—Between 2 or 3 yesterday morning, an attempt was made to set fire to the house No. 107 Prince-street. The hall was forced open and a quantity of burning shavings thrown in the hall. The fire was fortunately discovered immediately and extinguished in a few minutes, but the daring incendiaries made good their escape.

Obituary.

The London Daily News announces the death of Mr. William Weir, who succeeded the late Frederick Knight Hunt in the principal editorship of that journal. The News says:

Intelligence, still lacking positive information, has been received in England, to the effect that Adolphe Schlagentweit, the adventurous explorer and naturalist, has been murdered by one of the Cashmere tribes. The Times correspondent says: "It appears that a party of Khokandpas, belonging to a tribe which was in revolt against the Chinese, came in to the Yarkand Territory early in this Spring, and drove the few Chinese troops in the villages into the town of Yarkand. In one of the villages near the town the Khokandpas found Schlagentweit residing, and in the course of conversation he asked them why they did not attack Yarkand itself, where the Chinese force was so small and they were so numerous. For some unexplained reason they were offended at this question. They retired and held a consultation, the result of which was that they decided he must be a friend of the Chinese and wished to ensnare them, and in the dead of night they surrounded his house and killed him, to the great regret of their chief, who has saved some of the unfortunate traveler's instruments."

"Mr. Weir was born in 1802, in North Britain, and, having made the best use of the schools of his native country, completed his academic studies at the University of Gottingen. In 1826, having returned to these islands, he was called to the Scottish Bar. Before a long time had elapsed he exchanged a legal for a political and literary career, and for several years conducted one of the most able and influential newspapers of Scotland. Removing to London he at once took a high position in his profession, and joined the Spectator. On the establishment of the Daily News his vast knowledge and high ability attracted the notice of its conductors, who associated him to their editorial staff in 1854."

The Rev. Charles Wellbeloved died lately at York, Eng., in the 90th year of his age, and in the 67th of his ministry to the Presbyterian Church of that city. He was for many years theological tutor to the Manchester College, York; the chief institution for general and professional education, which for a long period the Unitarians of the North of England enjoyed. Mr. W.'s earliest years extend back to the time of Newcombe Cappe, well known by his critical labors upon the New Testament, and more generally by his sermons, which were so much in vogue the first quarter of the present century, and are still esteemed as among the best fruits of the Unitarian pulpit.

The Scotsman announces the death, in Edinburg, of M. Gabriel Jacques Surenne, the author of the French Dictionary. His age was 80. M. Surenne was a native of Compiègne, was educated in the Ecclesiastical College of St. Corneil, and entered the army of Napoleon in 1793, serving through the Italian campaigns. In 1816, he became a teacher of the French language at Edinburg, and continued in that city until his death. His contributions to educational literature were numerous.

Mr. Thomas Assheton Smith, the celebrated foxhunter, and proprietor of the extensive slate quarries at Llanberis, expired lately at his residence, Vaynol, on the banks of the Menai, near Bangor.

The people of Pittsburg are proposing to celebrate the one-hundredth anniversary of the surrender of Fort Du Quesne by the French, which took place on the 25th of November, 1758, and terminated the authority of France in the Centre West.

Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Controversy.

$1,500 REWARD.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Sir: Referring to my two communications in your paper of the 7th and 17th ult., and also to my offer of a Reward of one thousand dollars, in the Evening Post, of the 24th ult., for certain papers and documents therein described, I beg the use of a small space in your columns to renew and increase the said reward, which, as the public discussion was commenced in your journal, it has very properly been suggested should appear there also.

It may be proper to explain the immediate cause of this increased reward, which is, that one of the associates of Messrs. Brown & Robert (John E. Williams, whose name, for reasons stated, I have heretofore passed in silence) has recently intimated, that if I would divert the reward from the two very worthy institutions to which it was pledged, and pay it to one in which he seems to take a warmer interest, the said documents might be forthcoming.

Without stopping to discuss the propriety or impropriety of such means to accomplish such ends, my desire to obtain the documents is such, that I am constrained to add $500 to the $1,000 heretofore offered, the said additional sum to be paid, on the possession of said papers, to the Managers of the Children's Aid Society, for the benevolent uses of said institution.

The first and most important of said documents is a communication of 32 foolscap pages, dated March 23, 1857, signed by Wm. E. Warren, Moses Taylor, J. I. Blair, Drake Mills, Henry Young, A. J. Odell, R. R. Graves, Howell L. Williams, and seven others, [for the suppression of whose names here, I trust they will duly appreciate my motives; they may determine whether they shall be brought before the public in a still more odious connection.]

It is worthy of notice, and illustrative of the whole case as heretofore exposed, that several of said parties had been but a few months members of the Board when I left; and that the said Howell L. Williams was the business partner of the said C. R. Robert, Chairman of the Committee, and that he was not a member of the Board till nearly five months after I left it, and could know nothing of the matters submitted to the Committee over his name.

But this is by no means the strangest act in that drama. The document is made up almost wholly (to use its own language) of "gross misrepresentation of facts"—"malignant slanders"—"vindictiveness rarely seen in men of sound minds"—"malignancy of insinuation and falsification of fact," and other personal, injurious and irrelevant matters, well calculated, and manifestly intended to ruin my character and prejudice my cause, not only before the said Committee, but the public also.

Its character and design have been fully exhibited in the few extracts I was enabled to obtain, and which may be seen in my review of the Committee's report, among which is this closing command: "On the contrary, if the Committee believe that the Ex-President is a quarrelsome man and a mischief-maker, (and if they regard the unanimous testimony of the Board they must so believe,) they are called upon to stamp him as such"—as well as from the foregoing and the following quotations of epithets and elegant expressions with which that paper abounds; such as "Obstinacy or ugliness, or what you will of the Ex-President"—"He sought by pouring poison into the minds"—"lurking attempt to undermine," "ill-tempered proceedings," "willful and malicious designs to injure," &c., &c.

It is also quite proper to mention in this connection that the above-described document has furnished me ALL THE HARD WORDS and EXPRESSIVE EPITHETS used in my several communications upon the subject. It seems also to have been the MINE in which the beautiful gems were found which ornament the "cards" of my friend S. B. C., and Messrs. Brown, Robert, Williams and their associates.

The second in importance of the said papers is one of five pages, signed by Geo. W. Scranton, of Scranton, Penn., one of the "imputed" parties, and which will be sufficiently indicated by the following characteristic extract: "growing more and more violent until he has become, at last, morally insane."

The remainder of the said documents consisted of some ten or twelve parcels (some 150 pages) over the names of J. I. Blair and Wm. E. Warren respectively, which, as I never read, I cannot describe; (those who know the men will have little difficulty in identifying the character and style of their writings) and some twenty other "exhibits," letters, &c., making together 33 parcels and nearly 200 pages.

In addition to the foregoing reward—and as a further inducement for the production of the said documents, I hereby promise, immediately upon their possession, to use them in such way as shall forever put to rest all question or doubt in the mind of any disinterested and unprejudiced party as to the merits of all questions at issue between me and C. R. Robert and James Brown and their new-made friends; and at the same time, I will undertake to expose one of the most skillfully-organized and adroitly-managed conspiracies ever originated for the destruction of private character, or developed in a Christian land.

The circumstances under which the said documents were introduced, and the reasons why their possession is now so important to me, may be learned from the following brief statement of facts:

Christopher R. Robert and James Brown, and others, were appointed a committee to investigate certain "imputations," which, as President of the Company, it became my duty to present against the late Treasurer and six of the fourteen managers, specifically named by me, which "imputations" were submitted to a general meeting of stockholders, in a written argument in favor of certain by-laws, designed to correct and prevent such dishonest and other improper mismanagement.

At the Committee's written request for my 'charges," I submitted to them my said written argument, which complained only of "the misappropriation of the funds," and the impropriety and dishonesty of sitting in the Board of Managers, and negotiating contracts with other companies in which they held a superior and "conflicting interest," which said "charges" with the accompanying specifications, proofs and arguments, were by said Committee referred to the said imputed parties, "left in their possession many days," and a copy taken by them.

In response to my communication the said "imputed parties" conspired or combined with the other nine members of the Board, against whom I had never made any complaint, and under the pretence of a "reply," unitedly presented to said Committee sundry most irrelevant, malicious and libelous papers, of nearly 200 foolscap pages, containing all manner of low personalities, slander and falsehood, calculated, and doubtless intended, to destroy my integrity and ruin my character in the minds of the Committee, and thus to shape and control their report; which documents, as now appears, were received by the said Committee, with the condition that I should neither have a copy nor the undisturbed possession of the same for a single hour.

As has since appeared, the said Committee, contrary to all usage and equity, and in violation of an express understanding as well as decent and honorable precedent in such cases, did so receive, hold, and use the said documents, notwithstanding my several protests and my urgent requests and demand for a reasonable opportunity to use the same; and (as appears from a certain letter from C. R. Robert, now in my possession, as well as from the Committee's grossly false and injurious report) made them the basis of their said report, thereby combining or conniving with the said managers to destroy my reputation and character in the estimation of the public. Not only all copies of the said libelous documents have been persistently refused me, officially and formally by letter from C. R. Robert, Chairman of said Committee, dated April 15, and in the following words: "I avail of the occasion to state that the Board of Managers decline to give you copies of the papers and documents laid before the Committee," but also in response to my liberal propositions and offers of rewards often made, and especially in my communications to the New-York Times, of the 7th and 17th ult.

As if not satisfied with the production and extraordinary publication of the Committee's libelous and injurious "report," the said C. R. Robert, James Brown and their accomplices have added insult to injury by the publication of a certain "Card," purporting to be a reply to my said letter to C. R. Robert, of the 7th ult., but which in reality is only an evasion of all the questions at issue, and a continuation and repetition of their libelous, injurious and ungentlemanly insinuations and attacks upon my private character—and which unchristian communication has not only been sent off by the thousand, marked for the greater effect—but the same has also been published as an advertisement, or otherwise, in several papers in which my communication had never appeared; and, most extraordinary of all, the effort was made to introduce the same into one of the Religious Papers of this City, even by the offer of a liberal payment for the same as an advertisement.

For reasons given, I have heretofore refrained from writing the names of Messrs. Robert and Brown's associates on the Committee. Alone, I did not suppose they possessed the moral power to injure me. Had their report been signed by forty such, I should have given the subject no consideration whatever. So far as I know, the one above named derives all his title or claim to consideration in this community, from his position in a respectable Bank in this City; and those who are aware of the circumstances under which that position was secured, will entertain their own opinion of the honor it confers. As Mr. John E. Williams procured the publication of the "card," and is its reputed author, as well as co-author of the still more infamous report of the Committee, he is perhaps entitled to this distinction. "Those who live in glass houses," &c.

I suppose the second is only known as a director in the New-York and New-Haven Railroad Company; and of the third, my information extends no further than——

I cannot reciprocate the compliment of these gentlemen, and say that they are "professors of Religion, too;" which, perhaps, would be quite superfluous to those who have read their "report" and "card," and at the same time a cause of deep regret and fervent congratulation to others.

Like poor honest Tray, Messrs. B. and R. seem to have got caught in very bad company; but, unlike him, they do not seem to be very anxious to make their escape.

In my last, I gave to Messrs. Robert and Brown some most excellent advice; as stockholders, I will add a suggestion, worthy the consideration of all similarly circumstanced. It is this: If any one supposes that the interests of the Company will be promoted by such proceedings as those at the meeting in June, or by the course more recently adopted by some, I cannot sympathize in their views, and I think they will be sadly disappointed.

GEO. D. PHELPS.

Personal.

Southern editors have a hard time. Dueling is a favorite way they have of settling their little differences. We have still another specimen. The Donaldsonville (La.) Vigilant notices an "affair of honor" which took place a few days ago, the parties being, Mr. D'Artlys, of the Ascension Flag, and Mr. Edrington, of the Young America. The weapons were rifles; distance twenty paces. Two shots were exchanged without injury, when the seconds interposed and effected an amicable adjustment of the quarrel.

A private letter from Mohammed Pacha, received at Washington, expresses the delight of that personage at his recent visit here. No disappointment about the vessel is expressed. Neither before his departure nor since his return has been expressed the expectation that the American Government was "to have made a contract for a 74 for the Sultan."

The Hon. Washington Hunt is at present in Albany. A political letter from his pen is published in the Statesman of yesterday. He was announced to speak at an American ratification meeting at the Capitol last night.

There is a large disturbance in the military line in the little State of Rhode Island, arising from a conflict of jurisdiction between two Major-Generals, Green and Gould, each of whom claims command.

Murder in Erie County.—The Buffalo Republic, of Wednesday, says: "On Friday night last several German residents of Clarence, Erie County, went into the house of a German two or three miles from the village, the understanding being that there was to be a dance there during the evening. Among those who went was a man named James Graham, also a German. Arrived at the house, which was a private dwelling-house, they entered, and remained during the evening. Though a dance had been expected, it was postponed in the absence of the female sex, of which none but the wife of the master of the house was present. Under these circumstances, the only resource was whisky, and they sat drinking and smoking until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, when many of the party became noisy and rude, one of them dancing about the room in which they were drinking with such force that he broke through the floor. At this the man and woman of the house became enraged, and ordered them out. They were all drunk, and the party were forcibly put out of doors, and the door closed. The party attempted to enter the house again, and as one of them, James Graham, had got the door partially open, the woman issued forth with an axe. With the edge of this she struck Graham a fearful blow on the right side of the top of the head, cutting through the scalp to the skull, and fracturing the right temple. An alarm was given, the man taken up from the ground, where he fell senseless from the blow, and physicians sent for. The man of the house fled, and the woman was arrested."

Trouble in a Mining Company.—Some excitement was created after the adjournment of the Stock Board, to-day, in consequence of rumors of an irregularity in the accounts of the Pewabic Copper Mining Company. We applied immediately to the Treasurer's Office and found that the rumors were correct—about $30,000, charged to "sundry persons," not being satisfactorily accounted for in the returns from the agent at the mines. This will keep the stock out of the market for the present, at least.—Boston Traveller, 30th ult.

LIKE HOT POTATOES AND HUNGRY IRISHMEN.
No. 24 Main-st.,
Penn Yan, N. Y., July 22, 1858.
D. C. Morehead, M.D.;
Dear Sir: Please send me immediately by express one gross of your Magnetic Plaster. It goes off like hot potatoes before an hungry Irishman, and gives the very best of satisfaction. One of my customers was cured of a very lame back, in four hours, by the use of it. I could give you a number of certificates in regard to its splendid qualities, but hardly think it worth while, as the Plaster will recommend itself. Respectfully, yours,
E. C. HUNTINGTON.
MOREHEAD'S MAGNETIC PLASTER is sold by all Druggists in every city, town and village of the United States.

PUBLISHED THIS DAY—BY C. SCRIBNER, Brooks' Building, No. 124 Grand-st., New-York:
PEASANT LIFE IN GERMANY.
By Miss Anna C. Johnson,
Author of "Myrtle Wreath," "The Iroquois," &c.
One volume, 12mo. 450 pages, $1 25.
"Just such a book as only a woman could write, and a woman of common-sense, independence, intelligence, close observation, and great energy and perseverance. The authoress visited Germany to study the people, and, with a passing notice of the nobles and higher classes, gave particular attention to a careful observation of the condition of the peasantry. She went leisurely from village to village in the Valley of the Rhine—the Palatinate, the Odenwald, the Black Forest, Saxony, and, indeed, throughout the most interesting portions of Germany. She saw the people in their every-day dress, at work in the fields, in their workshops and in their homes. She saw them, too, on their festival days and in their various and picturesque costumes, and she gives us a veritable description of things actually seen, and not the results of guide-books and hearsay. We are set right down in the huts and fields of the people, brought into their actual presence, and feel that we know and understand their condition."
Will be ready in a few days:

INSTRUCTION.

MOUNT WASHINGTON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE, No. 218 4th-st., (entrance No. 154 Macdougal-st.,) on Washington-square, opened its Sixteenth Academic year on Monday, Sept. 13, 1858.

This is a Private High School, furnishing the pupil with a solid and finished education. Numerous counting-houses of this City, as well as many colleges, can testify to the thoroughness with which pupils of this Institution have, during the past fifteen years, completed their academic course. The location is unsurpassed. The Principals, who devote themselves to supervision and instruction, erected and arranged the building expressly for the institution. They employ ten accomplished professors and teachers.

The rooms and furniture have been thoroughly renovated, and a stage is employed daily to convey small boys at a distance to and from the school.

Students preparing for the Sophomore Class of College have just commenced the Freshmen Course. Classes in Surveying and higher Mathematics generally, are in process of formation. Those in French, German, Spanish, Book-keeping, Commercial Arithmetic, Penmanship, Drawing and Painting are already arranged.

One of the Principals takes special charge of the younger scholars, who are received under superior advantages at seven years of age. An effectual method for acquiring a correct use of English and of eradicating all errors in spelling is in successful operation.

The building is well ventilated throughout, and pupils of all the departments enjoy at the recesses, cheerful open-air exercise in the retired playground of Washington-square.

Parents are particularly invited to visit this unique establishment during its daily sessions, and witness the character and mode of the instruction imparted. Circulars procured at the Institute and at the Broadway bookstores contain full particulars. Acquaintances of its present patrons are referred to them for reliable information.

BURLINGTON AND MISSOURI RIVER RAILROAD COMPANY'S LAND AND ROAD MORTGAGE BONDS.—Sealed proposals will be received by this Company at their office, No. 48 City Exchange, Boston, up to the 1st day of October next, at 1 o'clock, P. M., for a loan of five hundred thousand dollars, ($500,000,) in money, payable as follows:

10—Ten per cent. on the 5th day of October next, which first installment the Company will retain, without issuing Bonds therefor until the last installment is paid.
20—Twenty per cent. on the first day of November next.
20—Twenty per cent. on the 1st day of December next.
10—Ten per cent. on the first day of January, 1859.
10—Ten per cent. on the 1st day of February, 1859.
10—Ten per cent. on the 1st day of March, 1859.
10—Ten per cent. on the 1st day of April, 1859.
10—Ten per cent. on the 1st day of May, 1859.

For each installment, except the first, Bonds will be issued, with proper adjustment of interest, when payments are made; or payments may be made earlier by notifying the Treasurer of the Company thereof, at the time when the first payment is made.

The Construction Bonds now offered are in sums of $500 and $1,000 each, to be dated Oct. 1, 1858, having twenty-five years to run, bearing 8 per cent. interest, payable semi-annually in New-York, being part of an issue of one million dollars which may be made, and secured by a first mortgage and trust deed to John M. Forbes, Henry P. Kidder, and John N. A. Griswold, Trustees, of 40 miles of railroad and its appurtenances, and more than 200,000 acres of valuable land in Iowa, covering also the first section of 35 miles of road from Burlington to Skunk River, which section is subject to liens amounting to $650,000. The proceeds of the lands constitute a sinking fund for the purchase and extinguishment of these Bonds; and by the terms of said mortgage and trust deed they are receivable at par in payment for any of said lands.

This issue will secure the completion of the Road to Ottumwa, in the Des Moines Valley, (a central point for the business of Southern and Western Iowa,) early next year.

Further information may be obtained at the office of the Company, or from its late report.

Other things being equal, a preference will be given to the smaller bids made by our stockholders, who are especially invited to share in the loan, the Company reserving to themselves the right to consider the responsibility of the parties making the proposals, as well as the rate offered. With these exceptions, they will award the loan pro rata to the highest bidder.

A CARD.

RICORD'S PRACTICE.—C. D. HAMMOND, M. D., pupil of Ricord, of Paris, (who is the first Venereal Surgeon living,) and of Professors Carnochan and Mott, of this City, continues the practice of this specialty, at No. 61 Bleecker-st., eighth house east of Broadway, New-York. All complicated disorders of the Sexual System effectually treated, including Weaknesses, &c., &c. Consultations in English, French, and by letter. Office hours from 9 to 1, and 5 to 8 in the evening.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.

This purely vegetable REMEDY combines in itself the properties of an Antiseptic, a mild Cathartic, and a Tonic. It quickly removes from the blood and other fluids of the body the impurities of unhealthy secretions which engender and feed disease, thus striking at the root of the malady. Prepared and sold by A. B. & D. SANDS, No. 100 Fulton-st., New-York. Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles $5.

TRIESEMAR PROTECTED BY ROYAL Letters-Patent of England, and secured by the Seals of the Ecole de Pharmacie de Paris, and the Imperial College of Medicine, Vienna. TRIESEMAR No. 1 is a remedy for relaxation, spermatorrhea, and exhaustion of the system. TRIESEMAR No. 2 effectually, in the short space of three days, completely and entirely eradicates all traces of those disorders which copavia and cubebs have so long been thought an antidote for, to the ruin of the health of a vast portion of the population. TRIESEMAR No. 3 is a great Continental remedy for that class of disorders which, unfortunately, the English physician treats with mercury, to the inevitable destruction of the patient's constitution, and which all the sarsaparilla in the world cannot remove. TRIESEMAR Nos. 1, 2 and 3 are alike devoid of taste or smell, and of all nauseating qualities. They may lie on the toilet table without their use being suspected. Sold in tin cases, and divided in separate doses, as administered by Velpeau, Lalleman, Roux, Ricord, &c., &c. Price $3 each, or four cases in one for $9, which saves $3, and in $27 cases. Sold by Dr. H. A. BARROW, No. 157 Prince-st., a few blocks west of Broadway, New-York. Immediately on receipt of the amount, Dr. B. will forward the $9 cases of TRIESEMAR, and the large sizes, carriage paid, thus insuring genuine European preparations. The $3 cases also sent, but not free of carriage. Consultations as usual, from 11 A. M. till 2 P. M., and from 4 till 8 P. M., at No. 157 Prince-st., a few blocks west of Broadway.

DR. WATSON HAS, FOR A LONG SERIES of years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated a vast number of cases with a success which has won for him the confidence of the public. The remedies are mild, and there is no interruption to business or change of diet. Dr. Watson receives patients in separate consulting rooms from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M., at No. 459 Broome-st., second block west of Broadway.

Dr. Watson's Work, THE CAUSE AND CURE, issued simultaneously in London and New-York, is the only one which clearly explains the nature and mode of treatment of the Venereal Disease in all its different forms; but treats also in full of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, and Premature Exhaustion, the result of early indiscretion, excess, or other causes. Anatomical plates of a superior kind, and drawings of every form of disease. Price $1, post paid. "Dr. Watson's Work has been written by a person of great practical knowledge, and we cordially recommend it."—Medical Journal.

Sold by the Author, as above; also by J. W. JUDD, No. 222 Broadway, and by CHARLES MILLER, No. 436 Broadway, New-York.

RICORD'S, VELPEAU'S, CIVIALE'S, ACTON'S, CURLING'S, and the Venereal Hospital Practice, of Paris and London, by Dr. LARMONT. As some persons afflicted with Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Primary and Constitutional Syphilis, Nervous Debility, Seminal Emissions, Impotency, &c., may not be aware of the fact, he takes this medium of informing them that he is the only graduate in this City who is exclusively treating and curing those diseases, and whose connection with the European hospitals enables him to adopt the latest and most radical treatment, curing the oldest and most severe cases, at No. 82 Mercer-st., corner of Spring, opposite St. Nicholas Hotel, from 10 A. M. till 9 P. M., except Sundays, unless by appointment. The Doctor's MEDICAL ADVISER AND MARRIAGE GUIDE, nearly 400 pages, 100 picture illustrations, is $1. Sold and mailed, also, by J. W. JUDD, No. 222 Broadway, New-York. It gives the advertised medicines, and should be seen by the married, single and the afflicted, before adopting any treatment, as it fully exposes the charlatans infesting this and other cities.

We commend Dr. LARMONT to the afflicted.—Courrier des Etats Unis, Staats Zeitung, Day Book, Atlas, &c.

DR. MAGNIN'S LUCINA CORDIAL OR ELIXIR OF LOVE.—This delightful and positive invigorant of the human system is fast superseding all other remedies; in fact, when its virtues become fully known, it will be the only remedy in use. Its action on the nervous system and reproductive organs is most extraordinary, allaying all over-excitement, and infusing into the nervous organization that degree of tension which is requisite to give the human system the enjoyment of its full powers, both mentally and physically. As an appetizer it is equally remarkable; assimilated with the gastric juices of the stomach, it assists them in more readily dissolving all nutritious substances, and converting them into pure and wholesome blood; thus the digestion is improved, and the whole framework of man moves on in a more vigorous and harmonious manner thereby. Price $3 per bottle, or two bottles for $5. Principal office No. 203 Fulton-st., New-York. DR. MAGNIN.

$500 REWARD.—DR. JEFFRIES' ANTIDOTE, a specific mixture for the cure of gonorrhœa, gleet, strictures, and similar disorders. It makes a speedy cure without the least restriction of diet, drink, exposure, or change in application to business. Further, the disease cannot be contracted if a dose of the Antidote is taken when exposed. Repeated experiments and long experience have proved that it will radically cure any case which can be produced. Price $1 per bottle. C. H. RING, General Agent, No. 192 Broadway, New-York.

Sold by C. G. GREEN, southeast corner of Atlantic and Henry sts., Brooklyn; COLLENDER & CO., Philadelphia; REDDING & CO., Boston; W. L. JENISON, Albany.

DR. JOHN R. WOOD'S DANDELION, Chamomile, and Tomato Pills, possessing in a concentrated form all the fine aromatic and stomachic virtues of chamomile, and the well-known valuable properties of dandelion and tomato, combined with vegetable cathartics, a valuable remedy for indigestion, constipation, bilious and liver affections; they have an efficient action on the liver, so that mercurials can be avoided. Price 25 cents. For sale by druggists.
BUSH, GALE & ROBINSON,
Wholesale Agents, No. 186 Greenwich-st.

DR. WARD, NO. 486 BROADWAY—PERforms the only permanent cure of private diseases. Sure cure, his Unfortunate's friend, and other remedies, price $1. Remember, all you afflicted, that by calling on Dr. WARD you may, in a few days, feel that Richard is himself again. Female diseases successfully treated. His Monthly Pills, $1 per box, never fail of effect intended. Office No. 486 Broadway, second floor; perfectly private, and so arranged that patients never meet. No charge for consultations. Afflicted, call without delay. Attendance till 10 P. M.

DR. RALPH, AUTHOR OF THE PRACTICAL Private Treatise on venereal and other diseases and abuses of the sexual system. Offices No. 5 Bleecker-st., corner of Wesley-place, two blocks east of Broadway.

Patients applying in the earliest stage of disease will be surprised at their immediate and convenient cure; but especially in chronic cases, as Stricture, Gleet, Emissions, Impotence, and cases that have been thought incurable, his services are most appreciated.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.—DISEASES OF females exclusively treated by Dr. DUBOIS. Remedies for female derangements from $1 to $5. Relief guaranteed in all cases. Consultation and letters strictly confidential. Patients from a distance provided with board, nursing and exclusive attendance. Medicines sent by mail. Ladies' private circulars sent per letter free, except postage. Office No. 98 West 24th-st., New-York.

DR. COOPER, NO. 14 DUANE-STREET, may be consulted on all diseases of a private nature; 26 years exclusively devoted to the treatment of secret diseases, enables him to warrant a cure in all cases undertaken. The victims of misplaced confidence who have been misled by quack advertisements, can call on Dr. C. with the certainty of being radically cured.

ALLSOP'S CELEBRATED ALE.—FAMIlies can be supplied at their residences with this delightful tonic beverage, in kegs of 3, 5 or 10 gallons each, from the Ale and Wine Vaults, No. 18 Wall-st.
Samples on draught. G. E. MENDUM.

THE OLIVE FEVER AND AGUE PILLS.—The subscribers can now furnish this celebrated remedy to druggists at the lowest wholesale prices.
BARNES & PARK, No. 13 Park-row.

DR. HUNTER—NO. 3 DIVISION-ST., PERFORMS THE GREATEST CURES EVER MADE.
THE ONLY SECURITY AGAINST HUMBUGS AND THE EFFECTS OF DISEASES IS TO APPLY TO HIS OLD DISPENSARY, NO. 3 DIVISION-ST., NEW-YORK.
ESTABLISHED IN 1834.

Dr. HUNTER, No. 3 Division-st., offers for sale the only reliable remedy known in the wide world for the permanent cure and removal of every particle of the rank and poisonous virus of the venereal disease, which is the genuine Dr. Hunter's Red Drop, made from the original recipe, in the possession of Dr. HUNTER, and not known by any other man or woman living except Dr. HUNTER, at No. 3 Division-st., one door from Bowery, all the assertions of the many poisonous quacks to the contrary notwithstanding. Dr. H. has prepared every vial of this celebrated medicine with his own hands that has ever been offered for sale for the last thirty years, and has never intrusted any living person with the secret; consequently everything offered for sale at any other place is a libel, a base and wicked counterfeit, got up by some unprincipled wretch that, for the sake of a dollar, would trifle with the lives of his fellow-men.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Which is Right?—Riviere's Bail.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

SIR: We have all, I suppose, read of the flare up on Thursday, at the City Hall Police Court, between Counsel to the Corporation RICHARD BUSTEED, and Police Justice JAMES H. WELSH, arising mainly from a difference of opinion as to whether a Mr. YOUNG was or was not a competent person to become bail in the sum of $2,000, for the gallant Zouave, DE RIVIERE, who was arrested for a felony, in having sent a challenge to fight a duel. The Magistrate declared Mr. YOUNG incompetent as bondsman, because (as Mr. YOUNG himself admitted) he was a lawyer, practising at the Court of Sessions; while Article 3, Section 7, of the Police Act of 1856, provides that "no member of the Police Department, assistant keeper or turnkey of any prison or place of detention," &c., "or any attorney or counsellor practising in the Court of Sessions," &c. Now, this law was obviously meant to apply to the Terhunes and other shysters of that and the present time; but yet it is sufficiently explicit in its terms to include Mr. YOUNG and all other respectable lawyers practising at the Court of Sessions. Justice WELSH certainly appears to have the law on his side; yet, in a few minutes afterwards, the Recorder, to whom the matter was transferred, accepted Mr. YOUNG as bail. Now, which is right, and which is wrong?—Recorder BARNARD, or Police Justice WELSH? My legal lore is not deep enough to authorize me to decide. Will your Law Reporter be good enough to enlighten

AN ANXIOUS INQUIRER?

The Alleged Poisoning of Mrs. Sophia Stevens.

Coroner CONNERY yesterday took the testimony of the following witness in this case, at Bellevue Hospital, at 4 o'clock P. M.:

George Davis was sworn—I live at No. 431 Second-avenue; I am book-keeper in a commission house at No. 159 Front-street; I am no relation of Mr. Stevens or his family; I have known Mr. Stevens' family a little over six years; I am an intimate acquaintance of Mr. Stevens; I have been in the habit of visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stevens in their own house; I first visited the family at their residence No. 166 East Twenty-seventh-street; I made about two visits a week on an average during the time I have been acquainted with them; they have had no children since I became acquainted with them; I don't know how many children they have had; I have no knowledge except by hearsay, that they had any children; my visits to that family were generally in the evening; sometimes by invitation and sometimes without; sometimes I remained but a few minutes and sometimes an hour or an hour and a half; I did not during that period observe any family quarrels; I have often heard Mrs. Stevens complain of headaches and pain in her chest previous to her sickness; she always appeared to me a healthy woman; after she was taken sick I made, I suppose, a dozen visits; I generally went to the sick room to see how she was; Mrs. Stevens was a moral, peaceable, quiet, industrious, and prudent woman; I think I went to see her the first week she was sick; I generally inquired about her in the sitting-room before I went into the bedroom; I generally inquired of Miss Fanny Bell, sometimes of Mr. Stevens and sometimes of Sophia Bell; I don't remember what answers I received to these inquiries; I went into the bedroom of my own accord; I saw no medicine at any time administered to Mrs. Stevens; I remained in the room only one or two minutes; Miss Fanny Bell and Mrs. Hanna were generally attending Mrs. Stevens; I remained 5 or 6 minutes or 10 or 15 minutes in the sitting-room, two evenings before her death I went into Mrs. Stevens' room and held the basin for her while she was vomiting; no one else being there to do it for her; on three occasions I did this; Fanny and Sophia Bell on one of these occasions were there; the color of what was thrown off by Mrs. Stevens was dark brown; what she threw off might have had a portion of laudanum in it without my knowledge; on these occasions she said nothing to me; I don't remember to have seen any one give a drink to Mrs. Stevens; I never saw a mark upon one of Mrs. Stevens' eyes; if she had a black eye, I think I should have seen it; I cannot swear that there was no discoloration about her eyes; I never had a rat jump on me in that house; I never heard that rats were annoying any one in that house; I never heard that powder was purchased by Mr. Stevens in order to destroy rats; I believe Mrs. Stevens was not properly attended to by her two nieces; Mrs. Hanna was the only person that I saw pay her proper attention; I was there twice on the night of her death; my first visit was at 10 o'clock, the second, I think, at 10½ o'clock; she repeated one verse of a hymn that night; I never heard the Misses Bell speak disrespectfully of Mrs. Stevens; I did not hear Mrs. Stevens request the girls to do something which they refused; I don't remember seeing Mr. Stevens at the house during the sickness, except the night preceding Mrs. Stevens' death; I don't remember that I at any time missed either of the Misses Bell; as a general thing, one or the other of them were in the sitting room; when I held the basin for Mrs. Stevens the Misses Bell were in the adjoining room; Mrs. Stevens was retching some time before I went to her; I was equally intimate with Mr. and Mrs. Stevens; I did not meet Mr. Stevens in his house while his wife was sick as often as I did previous to her sickness; I was not particularly intimate with the Misses Bell; I have not come to any definite opinion with regard to the cause of her death; the only evidence of want of attention on the part of the Misses Bell was their not handing Mrs. Stevens the bowl when she was reaching for it; do not know how long since I received the first intimation of foul play; I cannot tell whether it was six months or not; I know of no reason why Mrs. Stevens' relatives should act unkindly towards her; I don't think the Misses Bell had any motive for neglecting to hold the bowl for Mrs. Stevens; the evening preceding the death Mr. Stevens came in and leaned over Mrs. Stevens; she put her arms around his neck and embraced him affectionately, saying she hoped to meet him in heaven; he seemed to be very much affected; I don't remember what Mr. Stevens said; it was after the vomiting that Mr. Stevens came in; Mr. Stevens did not come to my place and speak to me yesterday, and no messenger came to me from him; the day before yesterday I saw Mr. Stevens in the Tombs between ten and eleven o'clock; he did not send for me; I went of my own accord; I did not see Mrs. Stevens grasping at the head of the bed or table; I think I saw some vials in the room.

This closed the examination of this witness, and Coroner CONNERY then stated that the analysis of Mrs. STEVENS' stomach would not probably be completed by Drs. DOREMUS and WOOD before Monday afternoon. He expressed his determination to examine young Mr. BELL before the inquest was concluded, gave the Jury the usual admonitions, and adjourned the inquest to Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock.

Coroner's Inquest.

HACKMAN DROWNED.—CHARLES T. LILLY, a colored hackman in attempting, on Thursday evening, to board the steamer Red Jacket, foot of Pier No. 2 North River, in pursuit of passengers, accidentally fell overboard and was drowned. An inquest was held yesterday on the body, and a verdict of accidental drowning rendered.

Police Intelligence.

A GALLANT EX-POLICEMAN, AND WHAT CAME OF HIS GALLANTRY.—Mr. Charles Carrol used to be a Policeman in the Twentieth Ward. He is tolerably young, passably good looking, and has a remarkable leaning towards the opposite sex. His conceit and presumption sometimes get him into hot water. On Thursday evening he followed two young girls to their residence, No. 84 Lexington-avenue. They repeatedly refused, so they say, to accept any attentions from him, but his excessive vanity caused him to accept as flattering their scornful conduct. As the girls would not let him into the house, like a true, but misguided cavalier, he resolved to get in on his own hook. Leaping upon the balcony, he furiously flung back one of the shutters, dashed out a window with his foot, and pushed his way into the parlor. Mr. Henry A. Jones, the occupant of the house—this was a little after 10 o'clock—was taking a quiet siesta on the sofa. The racket made by the Ex-Policeman, and the crash of the broken glass, roused him from his slumber. The young ladies apprised him who the intruder was. Mr. Jones is naturally a mild and peaceable man, but he was not long in seizing hold of one end of a heavy cane, and applying the other end, with rapid and stunning effect on the weak head of the Ex-Policeman. The Ex-Policeman screamed, the girls ditto, and Mr. Jones continued the bâton movement, going through with every possible variation of the staff. The scene concluded by Mr. Carrol being taken home, and his wounds dressed by Dr. Ranney. His injuries are serious, but probably not fatal. He alleges that the girls enticed him to the house.

FEMALE PICKPOCKET IN AN OMNIBUS.—Mrs. Wrightman, residing a No. 11 South Third-street, Williamsburg, while riding yesterday in an omnibus, from Fulton-ferry, had her pocket picked of her porte-monnaie, containing $12 in bills and gold, by a female "knuck." Omnibus buzzards is the more frequent term applied to lady practitioners in this peculiar department of the profession. A lady-friend of Mrs. Wrightman was sitting opposite, and fortunately saw the theft committed, and at once apprised Mrs. W. of her loss, and indicated the guilty party. The omnibus was immediately stopped, an officer called, and the person charged with the theft, searched. The missing porte-monnaie was found on the cushion under her, and the woman, of course, asserted most profound ignorance and innocence. The woman was taken before Justice WELSH, and, in default of bail, locked up. In her possession was found a porte-monnaie and some small change. In the porte-monnaie was the following notice of a death, cut from the Herald. "Beal.—At Cold Spring, July 14, Fanny H. H. Beal, daughter of Lieut. Col. B. L. Beal, U. S. Army, aged 14 years." The accused gave her name as Jane Coyle. She was well dressed, and lady-like in her conversation and manners.

HIS AMBITION SLEW HIM.—Thomas Boyle, a stout Irish boy, 18 years old, has been several weeks in the employ of Mr. Francis Bernhard, No. 57 Second-street, driving the latter's butcher's cart. Boyle grew ambitious, sold the horse and cart for $80, purchased a new suit of clothes, a silver watch, a new beaver, and began to play gentleman on the surplus funds left. His gentlemanly career was cut short yesterday by his arrest. He was taken before Justice STEERS, and fully committed in default of $2,000 bail.

DISHONEST SAILOR.—Mathew Quinn, a sailor employed on the schooner Samuel R., lying at the foot of Pike-street, East River, was arrested yesterday, charged with stealing $155 belonging to Mr. Gilbert Jagus, Captain of the vessel. The Captain went on shore for a short time, leaving his money in his overcoat pocket, and on his return the money and the accused were missing. None of the money was recovered. Quinn was locked up by Justice STEERS to answer.

LONG ISLAND.

THE CEMETERY OF THE EVERGREENS CONTROVERSY.—An adjourned meeting of the lot-owners in the Cemetery of the Evergreens was held in Washington Hall, E. D. There was a very large attendance of lot-owners and others, who take an interest in the controversy going on between the shareholders and managers. A Committee appointed for the purpose submitted the following report, which was adopted:

"A large portion of the Cemetery grounds lie in Queens County, and in examining the records in the Register's office, the Committee found the following conveyances:

Maria Meserole to Roswell Graves, 5th September, 1849, 35 88-100 acres of land for $5,382 25. Same day, Eliza Schenck to Roswell Graves, 35 88-100 acres for $5,382. Same day, Henry S. Ditmas to Roswell Graves, 15 acres, 1 rood and 10 perches, $5,296 87 100.

Next they find, Oct. 26, 1851, Roswell Graves to A. P. Cummings, Samuel E. Johnson, Edward Copeland, Martin Ryerson, Menwell Woolsey, and Henry L. Cotheal, the three parcels above named or 23-30 of the same, for $17,406 50, subject to three mortgages. Two days after, on Oct. 30, 1851, A. P. Cummings, Roswell Graves and others conveyed to the Cemetery of the Evergreens the same three parcels of land for $211,354, subject to the mortgages above named. But two of these mortgages can be found on record, one for $3,767 40, the other for $3,766 87. Again, they find John Remsen to Roswell Graves, Sept., 1849, lot No. 4, containing 35 88-100 acres, and a map of 143 52-100 acres for $5,325. April 12, 1850, Roswell Graves to Murray Graves, same lot No. 4, for $7,176. The same day, April 12, 1850, Murray Graves deeds to Evergreens Cemetery the same lot for $7,176, or what he paid for it, a transaction Dr. Smith said they were unable to account for, as it was the only fair one they met with. To be equal with all the other transactions, Murray Graves ought to have $65,000 or $70,000.

To recapitulate from the former and the present report, the Committee find on record in Kings and Queens Counties, conveyances of about 180 acres for about $40,000, which the Trustees sold to the Cemetery for about $350,000, making in clean cash for themselves $310,000, to pay which bonds are issued payable in 10, 15, and 20 years, with compound interest added, making a total of nearly $800,000 for the Cemetery to pay, if half the proceeds shall amount to that sum.

Last but not of least importance is a judgment obtained by one Elisha Bloomer against the Cemetery in the Supreme Court, New-York City, Jan. 30, 1857, for $139 81, which has not yet been satisfied. In conclusion the Committee are of opinion that enough has been developed during their investigation to warrant the plot holders in taking action to correct the reckless mismanagement of the affairs of the Evergreens Cemetery Association, and to cancel the bonds on some terms of compromise with the bondholders or contest their payment in a court of law or equity.

After some remarks by Mr. PHILIP HAMILTON and Mr. LYONS, the meeting adjourned.

A SWINDLER ARRESTED.—A man, who gave his name GEORGE MORRIS, was arrested yesterday for attempting to swindle a dry-goods dealer on Grand-street, out of goods valued at $17. He purchased the goods and directed them to be sent to a house on First-street. The goods were forwarded by a boy, who delivered them to a person standing at the door, and was paid $17 in broken bank bills. The suspicions of the boy were aroused on finding that the bills were not good, when he gave the alarm, and MORRIS was arrested. An accomplice escaped.

FIREMEN'S VISIT.—Engine Company No. 5, of New-Haven, visited Brooklyn yesterday, while on their way home from Albany, and were handsomely received by Engine Company No. 12. After a collation, the New-Haven Company was escorted to the steamboat upon which they departed for home.

TRIAL FOR SHOOTING A PRIVATE WATCHMAN.—EDWARD GRIFFIN was placed on trial in the Court of Sessions yesterday, on indictment charging him with shooting private watchman PATRICK BULKLEY. The accused, with another party who has not been arrested, it is alleged, had robbed the house of Mr. CAREY, on Smith, near Livingston-street, on the night of July 20 last. As they were leaving the premises they were discovered by private watchman BULKLEY, who attempted to arrest them. To prevent this, GRIFFIN drew a pistol and fired, the ball from which entered the left shoulder of BULKLEY, inflicting a severe wound. The accused was defended by Judge STEWART and Mr. PARMENTER, and the prosecution was conducted by District-Attorney SCHUMAKER. The trial occupied most of the day; and the Jury, after a short deliberation, rendered a verdict of guilty. The accused was then sentenced to ten years' imprisonment at Sing Sing.

FIRE.—At 1 o'clock yesterday morning a three-story brick house on Van Brunt-street, near Commerce-street, South Brooklyn, was damaged by fire to the extent of $200. The house was owned by RUFA NELSON, and was unoccupied. Officer THOMPSON, of the Fifth Precinct, arrested a man named JOHN O'DONNELL, found on the premises, on suspicion of his having set fire to the building.

ATTEMPT TO KILL.—LOUIS HAMMER and PETER HAMMON were arrested yesterday to answer a charge of attempting to kill a man named JOHN ROTH. The complainant and accused had some difficulty at a dance Wednesday, when the accused threatened to have revenge. On his way home that night, ROTH was attacked by the two parties named, who stabbed him several times about the head and shoulders, inflicting severe but not fatal injuries.

Engine Company No. 3, the winner of the first prize at Albany, returned home last evening, and were handsomely received by their brother firemen.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—CHAMBERS—Oct. 1.

Before Judge Betts.

The Slave-Trade.—Manuel Basilio Da Cunha Reis was brought before his Honor, Judge BETTS, having been arrested on a bench warrant, issued by the Judge, based on an indictment found against Reis in Boston, Massachusetts, for being engaged in the Slave-trade, in fitting out the ship Mary E. Smith, for a slave voyage to the Coast of Africa. On this indictment the U. S. District-Attorney of Massachusetts sent on a requisition for the arrest of Reis, who is a resident of New-York.

His counsel, Mr. C. N. Black, moved that he be discharged on bail to appear in Boston and answer the indictment.

C. H. Hunt, Esq., Assistant U. S. District-Attorney, opposed the motion, and moved that a warrant of removal to Massachusetts District be granted.

His Honor remanded the prisoner into the custody of the Marshal, and will decide upon the motion to admit to bail in the morning.

U. S. COMMISSIONER'S COURT.—Oct. 1.

Before Joseph Bridgham, Esq.

The case of the mutineers of the ship Orient was decided by the Commissioner this morning, discharging two of the prisoners, and committing five.

The case of Richard Horton, charged with an assault with a dangerous weapon on the Captain of the ship Isaac Webb, on the high seas, having been dismissed, Horton was then put on examination, to answer the charge of an endeavor to make a revolt. The testimony for prosecution being insufficient, the prisoner was discharged. Thereupon, on motion of the counsel for Horton, a warrant was issued for the arrest of the master of the ship, Capt. Bryer, charging him with inflicting cruel and unusual punishment upon said Horton, and the tables were turned, Horton now standing in the light of the prosecutor, and the Captain as the accused. The Captain was arrested, and immediately discharged on bail.

PASSING COUNTERFEIT MONEY.

George Muck, a German lad of about 12 years of age, was brought up for examination, charged with passing a counterfeit Spanish pillar dollar on a clerk in a leather store. The boy was unable to speak a word of English, and through an interpreter stated that the coin was given him to pass by a friend, who told him it was good. The proof of passing being conclusive, Mr. BRIDGHAM locked the boy up for the night, until he can confer more fully with the District-Attorney as to the advisability of discharging him on account of his youth.

Leopold C. Newmann, for the United States District-Attorney, appeared for the prosecution.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.—Oct. 1.

Before Judges Davies, Sutherland and Hogeboom.

THE ENGLISH EMBEZZLEMENT CASE.

Jonathan Peel vs. James Sutton Elliott.—This case came up again this morning, on appeal from the decision of Judge DAVIES at Special Term, denying motion to discharge the defendant from arrest. The appeal was argued. No decision.

THE ALBANY-STREET OPENING.

In the matter of the Application of the Mayor and Aldermen, &c., to Extend Albany-street.—This case came up on appeal from the opinion of Judge INGRAHAM, in which he advocated the appointment of the Commissioner, and from that order the Church appealed to the General Term. The argument on appeal was heard. Mr. Busteed appeared for the Corporation, and Messrs. Tillou and Ogden for the appellants.

SPECIAL TERM.

Before Judge Clerke.

Carl Struven et al. vs. The Ocean Insurance Company.—Motion granted with $10 costs.

Patrick Mullidy vs. Elizabeth Mullidy.—Judgment of divorce granted to the husband.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Judge Pierrepont.

Meeks vs. Van Doren.—Case to be settled on appearance of counsel in this action.

NOTICE.—During the month of October the Special Term of the Superior Court will be held in the chamber of the Board of Supervisors, No. 17 City Hall.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—SPECIAL TERM—Oct. 1.

Before Judge Daly.

Lissette Hesser vs. Jupiter Z. K. Hesser.—This is a suit for separation on the ground of ill-treatment. An application was made this morning for alimony pending the suit, and for counsel fee. The complaint shows that the parties were married in this City, on the 1st of October, 1848, and that they have no children. Plaintiff complains that about two years ago her husband commenced a course of unkind treatment to her, beating her and locking her up in a room, and finally driving her from the house; that her husband received into the house a young woman named Elizabeth Leswing, whom he embraced and kissed, at the same time calling plaintiff opprobrious names. On the other hand, defendant put in affidavits alleging various acts of infidelity committed on her part with a music master, while on a voyage from this country to Europe; and that after her arrival in Paris her conduct was so disgraceful that respectable people deserted her. The Judge made an order directing defendant to pay $3 per week alimony to his wife, and a counsel fee of $75.

EXAMINATION OF APPLICANTS FOR ADMISSION TO PRACTICE. The first examination of law students since the adoption of the new rules, will take place in the General Term room of the Supreme Court, at 11 o'clock, in open court.

FRIDAY, Oct. 1—P. M.

The Stock Exchange continues to improve in demand for United States and State Stocks and some of the prominent and regular dividend-paying Shares. There is a large inquiry, and principally from parties connected with the English trade, for the New Loan of the Federal Government at 102½@103½ ℘ cent., interest from 1st January next. Most of the original takers are out of the market at anything like these figures, and other sellers are scarce. There was no business in this security consummated at the Brokers' Board, and very little outside. The demand is good for State Stocks, and buyers are unwilling to pay an advance. This afternoon Missouris brought 84¾, Virginias 93⅛, and Tennessees 90¾ ℘ cent. For a small parcel of the Minnesota Loan, 8 ℘ cents.' 107 ℘ cent. was paid in the forenoon. Brooklyn City 6s improved to 98 ℘ cent., and Milwaukee and Mississippi 10 ℘ cents. sold at 75 ℘ cent., an advance of 10 ℘ cent. in a few weeks. In the dividend shares a further rise took place of ½@1 ℘ cent. in Panama. New-York Central and Galena are in good request from a strong class of buyers. The business in Central reached about 7,000 shares, including some Street sales. The price opened at 81, advanced to 81¾, and closed 81½@⅝ ℘ cent. For the 6 ℘ cent. Bonds as much as 92 ℘ cent. was paid. The Western list was somewhat steadier than yesterday, the late fall in Rock Island, which has had a good deal to do with repressing active speculation for the rise, in this class of Railways, having been checked. The sales, this afternoon, were at 65½@¼; Toledo 32, Michigan Central 52, and Michigan Southern 23¼. The shares of the Illinois Central are now sold exclusive of the Scrip dividend of 5 ℘ cent., which seems to be reckoned equal to 3@4 ℘ cent. on the market price of the shares. The Bonds sold at 88 ℘ cent., October coupon off. The dealings in Pacific Mail shares were less excited to-day than earlier in the week, the demand being steady at 105@105½ ℘ cent Hudson River shares, 27@27¼ ℘ cent. The August traffic is reported at $139,000, gross, on which the net result is said to be $23,000 better than last season, on $144,000 gross. The line is said to be carefully administered by Mr. SLOAN, the present head of the concern. The La Crosse Land Grants improved to 26½ ℘ cent. Erie shares were again depressed and sold down to 16¾ ℘ cent. this afternoon, after the transfers closed for the annual meeting on the 12th inst., when some sort of change in the men or salaries of the executive department may be demanded, unless an improved prospect for restoring the credit of the concern to at least a partial degree of respectability is held out by the annual report then to be laid before the stockholders. That the Shares and unsecured Bonds have suffered severely under the present rule, the daily stock lists abundantly show. Nor has the credit of the mortgages been much better cared for. The fault may not rest with the Executive, but as a salary four or five times greater than usual with other and more solvent Companies is paid to have the case otherwise, a reduction or resignation is reasonably looked for. In the possible event of the latter on the part of Mr. MORAN, Mr. NATHANIEL MARSH, the old Secretary of the Company, who has been a hard-working and competent servant of the office for eight or ten years, has been named for the succession. The general market closed irregular, being steady for the dividend securities and barely steady for other descriptions. Neither were pressed on sale with much confidence for the Bear account. City Bank Shares are held firmly, and full prices paid for the few parcels offered.

Money and Exchange affairs are quiet to-day. The Vanderbilt succeeds so soon the mail by the Persia that the business in Foreign Bills is limited. The sales on London are principally at 109⅞ ℘ cent.; on Paris 5.12½f. to the dollar. The Sub-Treasury received $131,000 in gold for Customs to-day. The return of even the 3 ℘ cent. Treasury Bills through the Custom-house is very slow, less than $5,000 a day through September, although $2,500,000 of the original issue at this low rate of interest remain out. The 4½@4¾ ℘ cents. are changing hands at about par, but none to pay duties. The disbursements from the Sub-Treasury to-day were $212,509 in excess of receipts; the balance his afternoon standing $11,247,477.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL ADVERTISEMENTS

☞ SIGHT AND TIME BILLS, on all the Southern cities, purchased by DUNCAN SHERMAN & CO.
SEPT. 24, 1858

Real Estate.... FRIDAY, Oct. 1.

By order of Court in the case of WM. B. ASTOR, vs. ALEXANDER McTIER, Mr LUDLOW sold the house and lot No. 41 Lafayette-place, house 27x65, lot 137.6 feet, being one of the colonnade row, and in the rear of Broadway lots, for the sum of $16,900; bought by Dr. MILHAU, the druggist. The original mortgage of $12,500 had grown up to some $13,250, which was the amount for which the property was foreclosed. We recollect that some five years ago, Mr. McTIER asked $25,000 for this same house and lot, and the price was not regarded as by any means extravagant. Since that, however, the constant tendency of similarly-situated first-class dwelling-house property down town, has been downward, and the wave of fashionable location is rolling steadily upward towards the Central Park. Receding before the progress of business, the rear of fashion is continually selling out below and buying in above; and thus it will continue to be until the whole Island shall be covered. Even now there are no dwellings, regarded simply as residences, below Twenty-third-street, and very few, if any, below Thirty-fourth-street, that have not seen their best days.

Messrs. RAYNOR and BLACKWELL report the sale of one through lot (two) from Seventy-sixth to Seventy-seventh streets, 500 feet West of Fourth-avenue, for $2,200—$1,100 each. We are requested not to mention names.

POST OFFICE.—The Tribune says: "A good site for it, which has not been talked of, is Appleton's Building on Broadway, Leonard-street and Cortlandt-alley. It is a central situation and the building is already large enough for the purpose, while the remainder of the block down to Elm-street, could be had at a reasonable rate. Why not buy that?" Instead of Courtlandt-alley" the Tribune probably means Catharine-lane. We can inform the Tribune that the Government has had this location under consideration for a long time. We think it is something like a year ago that one of our leading auctioneers and brokers laid this location before Mr. BROWN.
